OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE PHOTOGRAPHIC SOCIETY OF AMERICA

VOLUME 19 • NUMBER 3 • MARCH, 1953

60 seconds after you snap the shutter, lift out a beautiful finished print like this.

...ALL FINISHED IN 60 SECONDS

● What a difference it makes when every picture is a finished picture in 60 seconds! That's the thrill of the Polaroid® Land Camera — it develops its own pictures. Just snap the shutter, pull a tab, and as fast as your friends can say, "send me one if it comes out," your snapshot is ready — to see, to show, to mail, to enjoy. And you'll say it's the best you ever took.

When you see your pictures right away, you never miss those once-in-a-lifetime shots. You can shoot again if you don't get just what you want the first time. And you rapidly improve your skill as a picture-taker because you can correct your mistakes as you go along.

It's easy to use the Polaroid Camera — easy to get fine copies and enlargements, too. They're made directly from your print. No need to search through dusty files of negatives.

If you've never seen this camera in action, you've got an exciting 60 seconds coming to you. See your photo dealer. He'll be glad to give you a personal demonstration.

Your Polaroid pictures are guaranteed
If you're ever dissatisfied with the results from any roll, just send the pictures to Polaroid and you'll get a new roll free. Polaroid Corporation, Cambridge 39, Mass.

POLAROID Land CAMERAS

AMAZING NEW ANSCO

DEVELOPING TANK

with

self-loading spring-grip reel

MAKES FILM LOADING SAFER . . . AND UNBELIEVABLY EASY!

SEE HOW SIMPLY THE ANSCO REEL LOADS!

Patented "Grip-Slip" Action Makes Film Loading as Easy as Screwing the Top on a Jar!

1 ALIGN reel flanges. Pull the end of the film easily under the spring-loaded ball bearing ratchets. Then take a firm hold of the flange of the reel . . .

2 GRIP. Twist the flange as far as it will go in one direction (about ⅛ turn). The ball bearings grip the film edges smoothly, pulling the film into the reel . . .

3 SLIP. Now turn the flange in the opposite direction. The film remains stationary while the ball bearing ratchets slip smoothly into position for the next loading motion...

4 GRIP. Another ⅛ turn and two more inches of film slide smoothly on the reel. Just "Grip-Slip" along, as fast as your wrist can go!

YOU won't believe that any film tank can be so easy to load—or so considerate of your film—until you try the amazing new Ansco Developing Tank at your photo dealer's!

The brand-new design of the Ansco self-threading reel makes loading so fast and simple that you can load a full length of film in a matter of seconds—first try! That goes for any size of film from 35mm to 116.

Strong, stainless steel index spring holds reel in exact position for 35mm, 127, 120-620, 116-616 rolls. Tank holds 28 ounces of developer, plenty of solution to assure uniform development. The new Ansco Developing Tank is made of durable plastic inert to all photo chemicals.

If you want to know all about this important new development in photography, try the amazing Ansco Developing Tank with self-loading spring-grip reel—today!

THE PRESIDENT REPORTS . . .

It would be very interesting to know if there is even one individual in PSA who can name all the service opportunities offered to members by the Divisions and the various Society committees. I doubt that there is.

In working with the Wright's, Spee and Randy, on the new membership card setup (and just wait until you see it!) we were amazed at the wide variety of helpful and interesting individual and group services that can be used by PSA'ers. Our feeling was matched only by the proud awe that so many of the members give so much of themselves to make photography more exciting and PSA more valuable to those whom they serve through the many committees. Perhaps astounding would be a better word.

We all hope that the new card and the efforts Don Bennett is making in The Journal will result in everyone's knowing what he can obtain through PSA membership and how he should go about getting it. Most certainly PSA offers any photographer just about the biggest ten dollars' worth he could imagine.

But, as one of the Membership Committee put it, "We can offer everything, but it does no one any good until they do something about it. It's like setting out a fine meal before someone who won't eat."

The services are waiting, but you will get exactly nothing from them unless and until you make the effort to start using them. A look at the Services Page in The Journal or the new membership card when it gets around will tell you what there is and who should be asked about the ones you prefer. Or you can write Johnny Appleseed who will suggest the right chairman to approach.

One of the working services that seems to be extremely valuable to those who have begun to use and enjoy it is John Hogan's "Picture of the Month", the monthly competition whose results are announced regularly in The Journal.

Many PSA'ers seem to have forgotten that the contest was started about 18 months ago primarily as a service for the less-skilled member, the one who is reaching toward making exhibition prints. While there are a great many entries from members who have yet to break into the exhibition listings, far more of the advanced workers have found the service helpful and interesting. If you are excited in that direction, enter the "Picture of the Month" every month.

Everyone else seems to think the number of entries is fine, but John does not agree. Probably the best way to pay him for the tremendous job he is doing is to flood him with prints. And you will benefit greatly.

Each issue of The Journal seems to list still another get-together of PSA'ers. Some of the announcements cover the National Convention, some the Canadian Regional, and some the various Town Meetings staged in various parts of the country by various groups.

As these announcements come along is the best time to decide on vacation plans and which meetings you will attend. And some day, we all hope, it will not be necessary for any PSA'er to travel far for a big show.

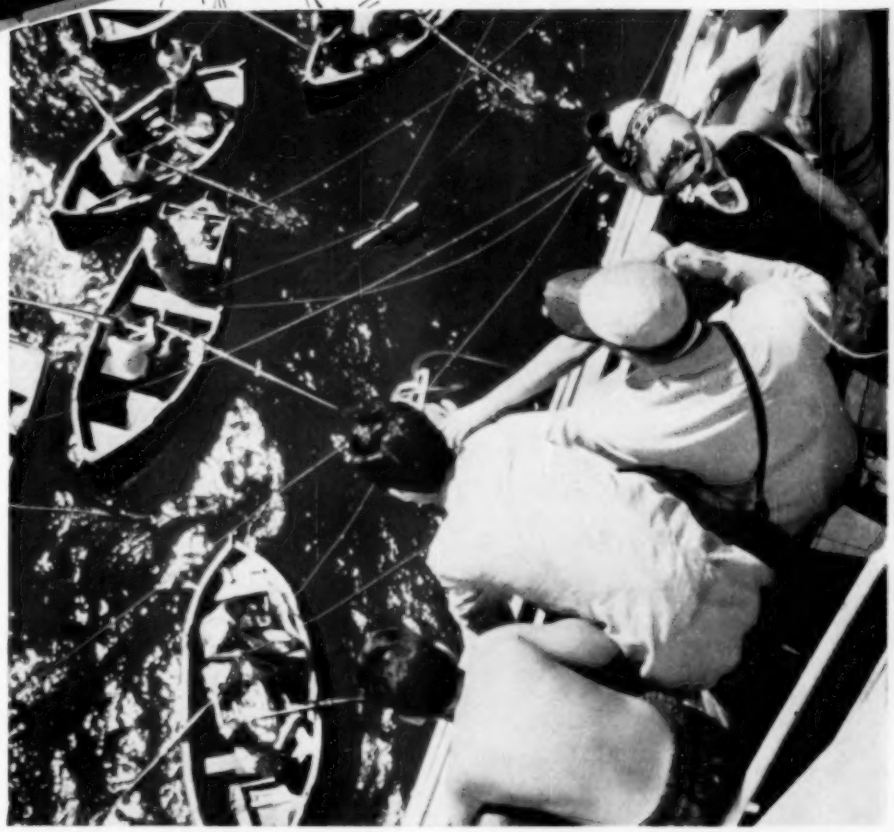
STEREO-REALIST



A WINNER!
"BUM-BOATS IN GIBRALTOR" by Ronald Colman, vice-president of Hollywood Stereoscopic Society. First prize award in "Scenic" classification of Society's 1952 competition.

MAKE STEREO EASIER SELL REALIST ACCESSORIES

PERMAMOUNTS — Specially designed for protection and viewing; 3 window sizes and spacing pre-adjusts slide and eliminates need for projector adjustments. Sturdy plastic-glass combination is resistant to breakage. Easy to assemble.

PERMAMOUNT MOUNTING KIT — Consists of three major items needed for mounting Permamounts: clear plastic sorting tray, accurate film cutter, and tweezers. Compactly packaged in sturdy box for convenient storage.

REALIST SILVRSCREEN — Specially designed and engineered for stereo projection. Picture surface is absolutely flat because it is elastic. Built-in tilt control; light, collapsible frame. Screen sizes now available: 40" x 40" table model (shown) and 54" x 59" floor model with adjustable stand.

THERE'S nothing like Stereo-REALIST slides for true-to-life realism. Take movie-star Ronald Colman's prize-winner, for example. The printed reproduction above cannot begin to do justice to the sparkling color, and breath-taking depth of the original REALIST slide when viewed in a REALIST viewer. Every unit is in its true perspective. It's so amazingly life-like you can almost feel the wind in your hair and the sun on your face.

Taking beautiful REALIST pictures is surprisingly easy, too, because the REALIST camera exactly reproduces on film what you see with your eyes. A few simple adjustments and you're ready to shoot. The REALIST does the work . . . you get the full enjoyment of the most realistic pictures a camera can take.

If you haven't seen REALIST pictures you're in for a thrill. Ask your camera dealer to show you some. Inspect the many superlative features of this camera with an established reputation for outstanding results. You'll quickly agree that you, too, can "take it easy" with the REALIST. —than carbon-tet!

Here, at last, is the ideal film cleaner—the cleaner that the photographic industry has been seeking for years. Electro-Chemical chemists have climaxed the search with amazing ECCO #2000 Film Cleaner—a safer, better, faster solvent than carbon-tet . . . and, above all, without the serious health hazards of carbon-tet.

1. Cleans better.
2. Dries faster than carbon-tet.
3. SAFER! No cumulative toxic effects! Government and industry hygienists rate carbon-tet at 35 MAC-ppm, trichlorethylene and turpentine at 100 MAC-ppm (Maximum Allowable Concentration per million parts of air)—ECCO #2000 is rated at 500 MAC-ppm and is as safe to handle as rubbing alcohol which has the same rating.

Ask your dealer, or order direct. 89¢ the half-pint bottle. No C.O.D.'s.

NEW AIDS FOR BETTER PICTURE-MAKING

By Jacob Deschin, FPSA

Already famous for its several innovations and general activity in the field of electronic flash design dedicated to portability and versatility, Speedlight Center, 128 West 32nd Street, New York 1, designer and maker of the Mighty Midget Speedlight, has just released news of the Mighty Midget II, the 1953 version. The new improvements listed by the company are: 1, approval by Underwriters' Laboratories; 2, a bounce-light bracket for instantly changing from head-on flash to bounce position; 3, a three-way power source (basic AC unit at $69.95; dry-battery pack, $24.95; wet-battery pack, $39.95); 4, five-year free service guarantee for basic unit. The flashtube used is said by the company to have a minimum life of 25,000 flashes, guaranteed. Guide numbers are 160; for bounce lighting 56; for daylight Kodachrome 30. Recently introduced accessories are a split-light, a siamese cord system that permits the use of two flash lamps for half-and-half lighting; the Magic Slave for double-power lighting, and the booster for doubling the light output of a single lamp.

Other flash news: The shutters in Leica models IIIf, IIf and If now permit the use of zero delay electronic flash units at 1/50th second with a synchro-dial setting of 20, according to E. Leitz, Inc., 304 Hudson Street, New York. The feature is available only in the newer model Leica cameras having fast shutter speeds of 1/25, 1/50 and 1/75 with a red synchro-dial.

A new model Jen B-C Pocket Flash, at $14.95, has been introduced for the Graflex 22 and Stereo Realist cameras by Jen Products Sales Co., 419 West 42nd Street, New York. This is the first of a new line of flashguns that are mounted in the accessory shoe of the camera.

Two new flash lamps, the amber 25C, color-corrected for indoor use with indoor color film, and the blue FP-26B, for use with focal-plane shutters in outdoor color work, have been announced by Sylvania Products. The 25C has a light output of 14,000 lumen seconds, the FP-26B, 7,500 lumen seconds.

Cameras

An automatic recording camera for taking pictures up to four per second or at intervals from one-quarter second to as long as desired, is announced by J. A. Maurer, Inc., Photographic Instrumentation Division, 37-01 Thirty-first Street, Long Island City 1, N.Y. The new camera is the Auto Camera Mark 3 which, with accessories, costs $550. It may be used for time-lapse recording, photomicrography, normal and stereo photomacrography, and other specialized purposes. The special spring motor permits the exposure of twenty-one feet of 35mm film with one winding. The shutter has five speeds, from 1/10th to 1/200th and "time", the standard lens is 36mm f/3.5 in focusing mount. The Mark 3A model takes 200 pictures 1x1 inch; the Mark 3B, 300 pictures ¾x1 inch. The camera weighs about six pounds.

Willoughby's 110 West 32nd Street, New York, announces a new model Voigtlander Vitessa 35mm camera, which permits rapid sequence pictures with plugger-type release. New features include a Synchro-Compur M-X shutter, with internal synchronization for all flash lamps at all speeds; new lens mount for bayonet-type accessories; removable back and automatic parallax. The camera, with Voigtlander Ultron 50mm f/2 lens, is $159.50.

The importation of the Japanese-made Pearl II miniature camera is announced by the Konica Camera Co., 76 West Chelten Ave., Philadelphia 44, Pa. The camera takes 16 pictures size 1⅝x2¼ inches on a 120 roll, has a self-erecting bellows and coupled range-finder with single-window viewing and range-finder eyepiece. The lens is the four-element coated 75mm f/3.5 Hexar, the shutter the Synchro-Konirapid-S with speeds from 1 second to 1/500th and bulb, retracting body shutter release. The price is $122.75. With f/4.5 Hexar, the camera costs $103.25. The same company has recently imported the Konica Copying Attachment for use with the Konica I 35mm camera. The

for a perfectionist . . .

For the man who pursues his photographic work, and pleasure, with the practiced discipline of a perfectionist — nothing but the best in a camera will do. The HASSELBLAD is such a camera. Precision-crafted in Sweden, it offers basic engineering refinements that can greatly extend your picture-taking range. The "check list" below illustrates a few key features. For a full appreciation of this great 2¼ x 2¼ camera, you must see it.

1. FILM RANGE. Interchangeable roll-film magazines permit an instant switch from one kind of film to another . . . even in the middle of a roll.

2. OPERATING RANGE. The shutter stops action at a dazzling 1/1600 second. A single knob dials your speed, advances film, cocks shutter, counts exposures.

3. OPTICAL RANGE. Interchangeable lenses and extension tubes provide a picture-taking range from actual-size close-ups to telephoto shots.

4. FOR FULL DETAILS. Write for the free HASSELBLAD booklet to $39 stand is used by clamping the camera to the stand, which employs a closeup lens and frames for various sizes of copy.

The Revere Camera Company's 35mm stereo, its first still camera, is now on the market in limited quantities. Selling for $174.50, with a stereo viewer at $18.50, the Revere 33 has matched Wollensak 35mm f/3.5 coated lenses, Compur-type shutter with speeds from ½-second to 1/200th, flash-synchronized for all lamps and electronic flash, superimposed-type rangefinder, automatic film transport and provision for single-frame pictures and double-exposure, if desired. A feature of the camera is an exposure guide for indoor color flash photography consisting of a dial calibrated directly on the focusing knob. The dial is computed for SM or SF flash lamps with indoor color film. For using the wire-filled midgets filters are recommended.

Accessories

A development time calculator, the Devlo-Tell, which gives the developing time for 38 films in any one of 20 developers, is announced by Camera Magazine, the makers and distributors. The device utilizes a disk; the settings take into account a wide range of temperatures, contrasts and the agitation factor. The calculator was designed by William H. Meyer, Jr. and costs $1.

A tape measure for accurately setting distances in closeup photography is one of several accessories recently announced by Spiratone, Inc., 49 West 27th Street, New York. The device has a level and fits miniature camera accessory clips. Another item is a 35mm slide printing mask for contact-printing 35mm positives on positive film or paper. A new coated 80mm f/3.5 lens at $19.95 for 35mm cameras and a six-piece metal extension tube set for the Kine Exakta at $7.95, are other items.

The Kilarscope Reflex Housing for use with Leica-type cameras has been imported from Germany by Kling Photo Corp., 235 Fourth Ave., New York. This mirror reflex focusing-viewing device, which converts the camera to a single-lens reflex type, has a roof prism and shows the subject upright and correct laterally. The action of the reflex mirror is synchronized with the camera shutter release by a single cable. The Kilarscope, with cable release, is $99.75.

The Superfect Floating Thermometer, a stainless steel device with degree markings in red from 10 to 110 degrees, priced at $1.95, has been imported by S. E. Laszlo, 25 Lafayette Street, Brooklyn 1, N. Y.

Matched sets of filters for the Revere 33 Stereo Camera are announced by Enteco Industries, Inc., 610 Kosciusko Street, Brooklyn 21, N. Y., who offer more than 20 different types. They will send literature on request.

The Actino-C Exposure Meter, which fits in the accessory shoe of small cameras and gives exposure data at a glance, has been imported from Germany by Alfa Photo Corporation, 303 West 42nd Street, New York. The meter costs $24.95.

The plastic Kodak Kodascope Transparent Reel Can is now available in the 400-foot 8mm size at $1.60, including a reel, 90 cents without one.

Water enters at one side of the stainless-steel unit and leaves the tank at the other end. The unit will hold up to four tanks, or three tanks with a place for pre-soaking or rinsing. The unit comes in three sizes, 24x5¾x6½ inches, 24x5¾x9, and 27½x6¾x7¼, at $21, $24 and $24.75, respectively.

Polaroid Corp., Cambridge 39, Mass. will send on request a 16-page booklet describing the company's new Pathfinder model of the Polaroid picture-in-a-minute camera.

About 20 percent more light is produced on the projection screen with a new motion picture projection lamp introduced by Westinghouse Lamp Division. A smaller, more compact filament, is the key to the new design, made possible by Westinghouse's Floating Bridge, a supporting and guiding device in the new lamp which permits the filament sections to ride as a unit on vertical rods.

The new Wirgin Footswitch, Model II, made of cast aluminum has been put on the market by Camera Specialty Co., Inc., 50 West 29th Street, New York 1. The footswitch connects to the electric outlet with a six-foot cord and combination plug. Priced at $5.95, the non-slip unit weighs 1½ pounds, measures 3½x5 inches.

The same company presents the Primos Autofocus Enlarger for 35mm film. The Primos is a condenser-diffusion type autofocus enlarger, permits focusing of the bulb in the enlarger for even light distribution, and has a lamphouse that is cooled with a circular vent system. The Primos permits a range of 2 to 10-diameter enlargement, has a 16x20 baseboard and may be manually focused when enlargements greater than 11x14 inches are desired. The enlarger without lens is $113. The Steinheil f/3.5 lens is $30; a color head $15.

BFI No. 20 Print Flattening Solution and BFI No. 30 Hypo Neutralizer, are announced by Brown-Forman Industries, Louisville, Ky. Advantages for No. 20 claimed by the maker: Produces flexible, flat-lying prints; higher gloss, whiter whites, better tinting, toning, retouching base, restores old prints, resists mold, will not yellow or stain prints, will not corrode dryer drum. Claims for No. 30: saves time, water, money by quickly neutralizing hypo in prints and negatives; prevents discoloration, fading, staining, washes film in six minutes, prints in 15 after soaking film three minutes, prints 10.

A new type of rollfilm daylight developing tank the Ansco Developing Tank, is on the market at $4.95. Feature is the self-loading spring-grip reel in which spring-loaded ball bearing ratchets pull the film into the reel as the operator repeatedly twists the reel flange. The reel is adjustable for all film sizes from 35mm to No. 116. An agitator stick is supplied.

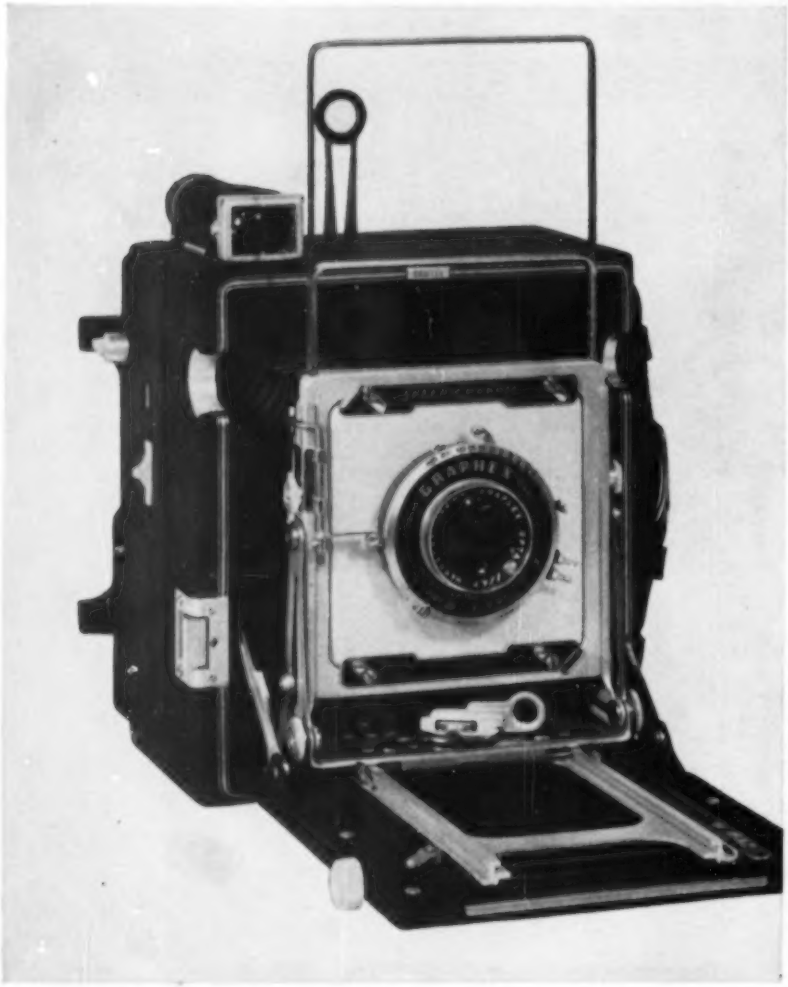
National Poll Shows 93.7% of Press Photographers Use GRAPHICS!



Press & Professional Photographers Hail the Pacemaker Graphics' Versatility and Dependability

"My Pacemaker Speed Graphic is my good right arm!" . . . "For over 18 years, a Speed Graphic has been the most important part of my photo equipment!" . . . say press photographers all over the country. In fact, a national poll of press photographers shows that 93.7% use Graphic cameras. In all weather, on all assignments, these great cameras have proved their versatility and dependability. Press photographers swear by the rugged Pacemaker Graphics' ability to stand up under the terrific beating of the day-in day-out news grind . . . and still deliver top quality pictures. But the Speed and Crown Graphics are more than just fine news cameras. They record industrial processes and experiments for science and industry. They are essential to the professional for sports, portrait, fashion and feature photography. No matter how tough the photo job, the Pacemaker Graphics are the first choice of press and professional photographers—men who live by the lens.

THE SPEED GRAPHIC (illustrated) has the famous Graflex focal plane shutter—the only focal plane shutter that's been tried and proven in daily use by 93.7% of America's press photographers. The achievement of over 45 years' experience in building such precision mechanisms, it gives direct readings of settings and provides accurate, governed speeds up to 1/1000th. Such proven accuracy is now more important than ever, especially with color photography.

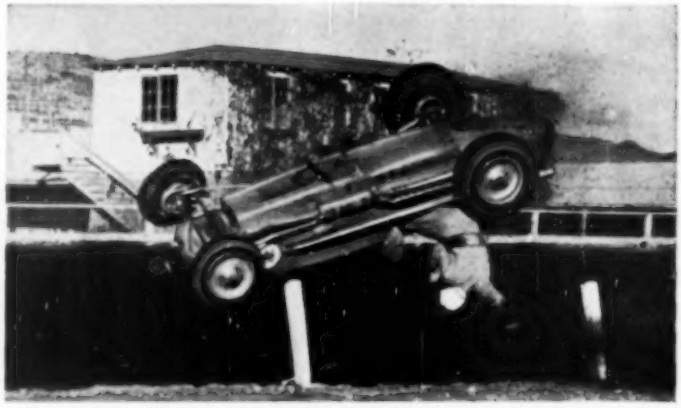
PACEMAKER SPEED GRAPHIC—Precision built, high speed press and all purpose camera has focal plane shutter; ground glass focus; built-in flash synchronization; selector switch for front or rear shutter; coupled range finder (optional at extra cost); rising, shifting, tilting front; drop bed; and the famous Graflok Back. Sizes 2¼ x 3¼; 3¼ x 4¼; and 4 x 5. Priced from $215.80.

PACEMAKER CROWN GRAPHIC—Exactly the same as the Speed Graphic, but without focal plane shutter. At prices as low as $174.15.

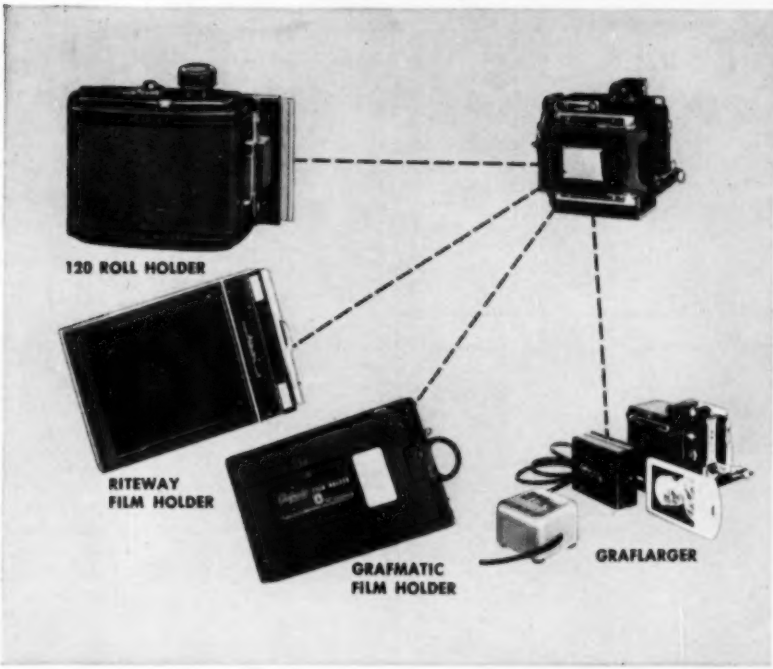
CENTURY GRAPHIC (2¼ x 3¼)—The most economical of the famous Graphics—but with many of their prize-winning features, including synchro-shutter; ground glass focus; coated color corrected lens. Now only $108.

Prices subject to change

Many dealers offer time payments on Graphic cameras—as little as $2 per week!



The accurate focal plane shutter of the Speed Graphic makes it easy to take exciting, fast-action shots like this Graflex Prize-winning Photo by Don Downie.



Amazing Graflok Back Lets Your Graphic Do the Work of Six Cameras

Takes Widest Choice of Film and Accessories

The wide variety of money-saving, time-saving attachments that fit the Graflok Back increases the versatility of your Graphic even more. The Graflok Back is now standard equipment on all Graphics, and can be bought separately and attached to earlier models.

A real money saver, the 120 Roll Holder quickly attaches to the Graflok Back and converts your Graphic to low cost roll film. It is compact and light weight . . . has automatic film control and counter. A dark slide permits removal from camera at any time. Two sizes: 2¼ x 2¼ and 2¼ x 3¼. Price $18.95 up.

For perfect over-all picture sharpness, use the new Riteway film holder in your 4 x 5 Graphic. It is far stronger than wood, less vulnerable than metal and cannot warp. Thin, light weight, easy to use, it is a wonderful value at $4.05.

The rapid fire Grafmatic takes lightning fast sequence shots. Only a fraction thicker than ordinary film holders, it holds six sheets of monochrome or color film or both! Available in either 2¼ x 3¼ or 4 x 5 size, it cycles rapidly and permits quick changing of films. Only $14.85 up. See the famous daylight loading Graflex Film Pack Adapters, too! (From $6.85.)

You can rapidly transform your Graphic or Graflex to a home or portable enlarger by attaching a Graflarger with Aristo Cold Grid Light (only $35.00). Turns out fine enlargements and can double as light source for retouching or transparency viewer. Underwriters' Laboratories approved.

New Graphic Polaroid Back Takes Pictures in a Minute

There are many times when it is a real advantage to have a finished print a minute after a picture is taken.

News and industrial photographers, salesmen, real estate agents, and artists have all eagerly welcomed the new Graphic Polaroid Back which utilizes all of the Graphic's superb features to deliver a print in a minute. Attaching to a 4 x 5 Graphic in seconds, it is excellent for checking composition or lighting. A dark slide permits removal from camera at any time. Price $77.50.

PSA Plans Are Popping In L. A.

By Winton F. Kelley

Plans are well under way for the PSA National Convention to be held in Los Angeles August 3rd through 8th at the Biltmore Hotel. This downtown hostelry is in the heart of business, shopping and transportation and has ample facilities to handle a convention such as ours. Plenty of parking and garage facilities are at hand. In August the temperature is ideal for vacationing visitors, averaging about 80 degrees, with cool evenings.

Mel Phegley, in the dual role of General Chairman and as President of the Southern California Council of Camera Clubs (S4C) has appointed the L. A. Convention committees. Already these committees have expanded to include an army of capable and enthusiastic workers. S4C sponsored and insured the success of the first Western Regional Convention in Santa Barbara, Calif. in June 1951. Many of the individuals that worked on that ground-breaking event have been drafted into the pre-convention activities.

Program Planners

Harvey Brown, Program Chairman, left, and Mel Phegley, General Chairman, discuss program plans for L. A. with Division Program Chairman Merle Ewell, Karl Struss and Charles Norona following get-together breakfast at the Los Angeles Biltmore.

According to Harvey Brown, APSA, the Program Chairman, the Convention will be streamlined with no more than three events running simultaneously. Divisions will cooperate on programs of common interests so that competition for attendance will be reduced. A full six days of activities is planned—two days of "get-together" activities such as special tours, receptions, the salon opening, clinics, symposiums, judgings and opportunities to make new contacts and renew old friendships while the convention is young; then will follow four days of scheduled programs with all seven divisions participating.

The convention sessions, programs, exhibits, division meetings and banquet will be held under one roof in the Biltmore Hotel. In all there are three large halls and ten more meeting places only a few steps apart making it easier for all concerned. A projection room will have a continuous showing of color slides, nature slides, stereo slides and movies from the PSA International Exhibition.

Westward bound toward the convention will be a large group of vacationists, for what better idea than to combine a trip to the convention with your vacation? Theirs will be the opportunity to detour enroute to such famed photographic wonderlands as Monument Valley, Navajo Land, and the Grand Canyon. An especially conducted "jeep" tour with photographic guides will jump off at Gallup, New Mexico and wind up at Williams, Arizona taking in these photogenic contours. Coming a different route you may elect to visit colorful, fantastic Bryce or imposing Zion National Parks. In fact, all routes abound in scenic bypaths if your time permits.

Special Events Chairman, Leo Moore, promises plenty of local tours for those attending. Trips are planned to include major movie studios, and other places which make Los Angeles and Hollywood world-renowned, such as Grauman's Chinese Theatre with its Footprints of the Stars, Olivera Street, a Mexican showplace, New Chinatown, Little Tokyo. The Brown Derby, homes of the movie stars, Los Angeles

Harbor, Pacific Ocean beaches, Old Missions, and new picture-packed freeways.

Special attention will be given to the non-photographic wives and arrangements are being made for fashion shows, shopping trips, a tour through Max Factor's makeup studio, top radio and television shows with big name performers like Lucille Ball, Bob Hope, Bing Crosby, Jack Benny and dozens of others.

And if all this is not enough, other camera tours are scheduled after the convention to Hawaii, Mexico, Yosemite, the High Sierras, Sequoia, Monterey Bay, the Giant Redwoods.

The general outline of the programs to be presented at the convention is rapidly taking shape and in the next issue of the Journal some of the outstanding events will be revealed. Top figures from both East and West will make the six days profitable ones to those persons attending from all sections of the country. For the visitor to the West new contacts and new friendships; for the western residents an opportunity is offered to meet and hear visiting personalities from the East.

In the succeeding issues of the Journal there will be much more about the convention, its programs, activities and personalities. There will be special information on picture taking in the West and interesting news in the sections devoted to each of the PSA Divisions.

NEW KALART® RANGEFINDER-FOCUSPOT

With Built-In Electric Light

MAKES INDOOR FOCUSING FAST AND EASY

Add the NEW Kalart Rangefinder-Focuspot to your Automatic Rolleiflex — and precision focusing in dim light or total darkness becomes faster and more certain than daylight focusing. The Kalart Rangefinder-Focuspot is similar to the famous Kalart Rangefinder used on press cameras — plus a miniature light bulb and 3 batteries. Complete unit is attached to camera tripod socket with simple thumbscrew. Press light switch and twin circles of light are projected from the two rangefinder lenses. Turn camera focusing knob until twin circles merge on subject . . . and you're "in focus." Makes all indoor, candid, child portrait and flash photography easier and more certain. Complete with 3 batteries and bracket for attaching flash unit, $29.95. Ask your photo dealer.

Judging, June 6 with Rex Frost, APSA, ARPS, Mrs. Blossom Caron, APSA, ARPS and George Driscoll, APSA, ARPS as judges. Final date of the exhibition will be June 27.

Raymond Caron, APSA is in charge of the programming and a full convention committee of PSA members and civic agencies has been appointed. More details will appear in future Journals.

Did You Do It?

Somebody, in fact a lot of somebodies at the Western States Regional in June 1951, borrowed a couple of honeymooners to pose for them. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mosier of 706 Oleander Ave., Bakersfield, Calif., posed on the lawn, at the palm trees, near the West entrance.

Since this was a big moment in the Mosier family annals, they are wondering if some of the members who posed them could furnish them with prints. They offered to pay for an ad to reach the photographers and for the film and prints. What say gang? Going to help these honeymooners out? And how about letting the Journal see some of the good pix you took? We might want to run them.

100% PSA CLUB

They all said it wasn't so, but we poked around until we found a Camera Club with 100% PSA membership. Not only that, but the club is a member, too.

We hope there are more 100% clubs . . . Joe Perry says he'll settle for clubs with only 76% PSA members . . . Spirit of '76 and all that . . . so if we are wrong in saying that Armchair Photographic Society of Stamford, Conn. is the only 100% club, will somebody please straighten us out? We'll be most happy to run a roster of 100% clubs, or even the 76ers. In fact, we'll ask Spee Wright to authorize a special membership certificate for both degrees of excellence!

Of course, the Armchair PS isn't the largest club in the country, but seven out of seven is still 100%. The seven are Henry W. Barker, APSA, ARPS; Joseph Chiaramonte; Dr. E. Throop Geer; Richard B. Hunt; Edwin W. Lewis; Henry C. Miner, Jr., ARPS and George A. Flett. Flett was the last to join PSA and make it 100%.

Incidentally, Vic Scales had a write-up in December American Photography about the Armchair group.

Chicago Chapter Meets

Chicago Chapter PSA holds regular meetings on the third Wednesday of each month at Toffenetti's Restaurant, 57 W. Randolph. The program starts at 8 P.M. and is preceded by a dinner at 6:45.

Royal Honors Mees

The 1952 Progress Medal of Great Britain's Royal Photographic Society will be presented to Dr. C. E. Kenneth Mees at an international conference in London next September.

Only Dr. Mees and Sir William Abney have received the progress medal twice. Dr. Mees heard the news while visiting in Australia. He has been head of Kodak research for more than 40 years.

NEWS BRIEFS

E. Leitz has moved its main office to an uptown location in New York. Manufacturing and service facilities will remain at Hudson St. The new offices are at 468 Fourth Avenue and a repair man is stationed there to service the cameras of visitors and New York owners.

Change of Address

If you are moving be sure to advise Headquarters, giving both old and new addresses. Do not notify the printer or the editorial office. Your envelopes are addressed at HQ each month and all your records are kept there.

If you have a temporary change of address, or a vacation home, deposit enough money with your regular postmaster for him to forward all your magazines. It takes one or two months to effect a change of address and you don't want to miss a single issue of your PSA Journal.

THE DIRECTORY

Part of this issue of the Journal, the greater part, by page count, is our Annual Membership Directory. This is usually published in January, although this date is by no means mandatory. For a variety of reasons it was postponed until March of this year, with all members in good standing as of December 31 listed. Next year we plan to issue it with the January issue, listing all members as of Nov. 1, 1953.

The usual sections are included, the elected officers, the honors list, charter members, cornerstone and life members, etc. Then the committees of the Society and its seven Divisions. The alphabetical list of 6,433 members, 38 sustaining members and 688 club members follows. All members are combined in a single list, whether foreign or domestic. Thus, if you want to locate Joe Zilch you will find him under "Z", regardless of where he lives.

An innovation follows the alphabetical list. There is a geographical cross-index. If you want to locate a member or a club in a certain town, look under the state and town and there he is. Or if you are going traveling, you can trace your route from PSA member to PSA member. This could be especially valuable in foreign travel, and, conversely, be a distinct aid to foreign members visiting the U. S.

Oh, yes—the last section of the Directory contains the Constitution and By-Laws with all amendments through 1952.

THE RUSH HAS STARTED

By Sewell P. Wright, APSA
Chairman, Membership Committee

Remember the gold rush of '49? You don't? Well, you've read about it, so you know what happened.

There's a new gold rush on, and the rushers are headed for California, just like the original ones—only the top man in this gold rush won't travel in a covered wagon, or by pack train. No, sir! Mr. P.S.A. of 1953 will go to California in style, and at the expense of the Photographic Society of America, to attend the fabulous 1953 Convention of the Society in Los Angeles.

We've said it before, but we should say it again, so we do, here and now: Mr. P.S.A. of 1953 may turn out to be Miss P.S.A. or Mrs. P.S.A.

The returns are starting to come in, of course, and the records are being very carefully kept and double-checked all along the line. But so far, there's no pattern or trend notable enough to be worth reporting.

Somebody is going to be Mr. P.S.A. of 1953. Whoever he or she may be, he or she has no better chance than you to win the trip and the glory.

A postcard to Headquarters will bring you all the membership application blanks you can use—and you can start with the one in this issue.

It's YOUR trip, YOUR honor, if you want these things enough to work for them!

Report
Annual Meeting
Board of Directors Meeting #1
December 6, 1952

The Board met at The Lotos Club in New York with 16 members present. Don Bennett and Randolph Wright were present by invitation.

Reports were heard from the Divisions and the Standing and Special Committees, and the various budgets were discussed. The reappointment of the 1952 Honorary Representatives was approved as was that of M. Edouard Belin for France. The reappointment of Dr. Max Thorek as the legal representative in Illinois was approved. Dr. Raymond LaPelle was confirmed as a trustee of the Permanent Print Collection.

The resignation of Frank E. Carlson, Hon. PSA, APSA, as Chairman of the By-Laws Committee was regretfully accepted, and the Board expressed its gratitude for the fine job he has done in a difficult and time-consuming task.

The budget of the Recorded Lectures Committee was established at $1000 for the fiscal year, and authorization was given for the purchase of six tape recorders. The Tops Committee was granted an additional $50 for its expenses.

After much discussion the Board voted to increase the Headquarters staff to handle the printing of Division newsletters and to charge the Divisions only for the materials actually used.

The report of the temporary Regional Activities Committee was accepted, and the Committee was established as a Standing Committee with W. E. Chase, APSA, as Chairman and a temporary budget of $250. The Board urged the fullest cooperation of the various committees now serving group activities with the new R. A. Committee.

With the intent of increasing greatly our services to camera clubs, the Board voted to re-establish the Camera Club Committee. Mr. Harkness was instructed to draw up an organizational and operating plan for the new committee which is to be circulated to the Board by mail for discussion at the next in-person meeting.

A new committee to handle both the collection of prints for international exchange shows and the exhibition of such shows and others was established as the International Exchange Exhibits Committee, and the appointment of V. E. Shimanski as Chairman was approved.

The report of the Honors Procedures Review Committee was read and approved by the Board with special commendation to P. H. Oelman and his committee members, Frank E. Carlson, Frank E. Fenner and John W. McFarlane. Their report is published in full in the February issue. Their recommendations for by-laws changes will appear in a By-Laws Committee report at an early date.

Plans for the August Convention in Los Angeles were discussed and an invitation to St. Louis was referred back to Vice-President Holden for further information.

The meeting adjourned at 5:15 P.M.

FARMING

A Color Division Feature

Pictures by Paul Haasis and Bill Ash

Latin beauties pose for Paul Haasis in Hidalgo County, Tex. Migrant workers follow the crops. These girls are bean pickers.

The corn grows tall in Iowa . . . this is that famous Iowa hybrid, fat full ears . . . better ask the farmer before you husk any.

Agriculture provides untold opportunities for hundreds and even thousands of scenes to be photographed in the rare beauty and brilliance of natural color. The field of Agriculture also provides an opening into another world for many color slide, stereo and color movie photographers. Let's look at some of these beautiful scenes as seen through the lens of our camera.

Spring is the time of the year when most people start thinking about farming. Spring is also a good time to begin making pictures of farm scenes. As spring opens up in most parts of the country farmers start turning the ground and preparing a seedbed for many different crops. Here is the chance to get that shot of modern farm machinery in action. In the Midwest one can see large draft horses turning the rich black soil of some of the corn belt farms. On smaller farms, and in the South, you can still find mules hitched to the plow. Each state has different types of soil and these soils all have different colors. As the soil is being turned in the spring its color is brightest. Spring is also the time when truck farmers are setting out tomato, lettuce, cabbage, and many other plants. This is when they transplant these plants from the hotbeds to the field.

What can be more beautiful than an orchard of pears, peaches, or apples in full bloom against a background of clear blue sky. Spring also brings the beautiful lavender of the wild red bud, white and pink dogwood blossoms, deep red of the flowering peach, purple thrift, yellow jonquils, the lovely deep red, yellow, white, pink and purple tulips, and many many other beautiful flowers.

To do justice to these beautiful blossoms you need a portra lens. A 3+ lens is more desirable as it enables you to get within ten inches of your subject. This lens is a must to get top quality shots of single blossoms. When photographing apple, peach or pear blossoms against the blue sky, in bright sunlight, close your shutter down from one half to a full stop and you will get much more detail and truer colors.

There are many other spring scenes that make good pictures; such as the different breeds of cattle out on green pasture with young calves at their side. This is more familiar with beef cattle as dairy calves are not let out with their mothers. A sight loved by all is that of a black or chestnut colored mare with her colt running by her side. Other photographic spring scenes are planting time and soon after the young green plants have come up and started growing. You can find corn, cotton, soybeans, potatoes, peas and other crops growing in a variety of colors of soils. Peanuts are usually found in light colored sandy soil. Spring is also the time when you can see hundreds of acres of redtop, ladino, white and crimson clover and other legume and seed crops in full bloom.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR—Bill Ash who wrote this article and made the Feeding Time picture on the opposite page, is an instructor in vocational agriculture for veterans. He uses color extensively in his work and has made more than 2,000 slides since 1946. He doesn't shoot black and white so asked his friend Paul W. Haasis, PSA to lend him a few prints. Haasis has been shooting pictures for fifty years. Bill Ash uses farm subjects for both pictorial and nature salons and has had some acceptances. His article points out the unlimited subject matter to be found on farms.

Every year in early May the people of Winchester, Franklin County, Tennessee have a two day festival in honor of crimson clover—the plant that has brought prosperity to these people. On the morning of the second day of the festival there is always an hour-long parade with three or four colorful bands and seventy or more beautiful floats and an unknown number of lovely girls in evening dresses. People come for miles around to inspect the farms, see the parade and other activities and to participate in the nightly square dances.

After planting time summer rolls around and the small grain crops (wheat, oats and rye) ripen into a golden brown color. To those who have ridden across the wheat producing sections of Kansas, Nebraska, the Dakotas or the Palouse wheat section of Washington and Idaho it is indeed breathtaking to see nothing for miles upon miles except the golden grain of the west. One can get many beautiful pictures as the grain is being harvested by the huge combines. Try a closeup shot of the grain as it comes out of the combine into the grain tank or into sacks. In the east you can get good photographs of grain being mowed, tied into bundles and stacked into shocks. This is a good time of the year to be sure you have color film in your movie camera.

There are two things to be careful about when taking color pictures in the summer. There are too many greens for the best in color photography, and there is more haze in the summer than probably any other time of the year! Be sure to have your skylight or haze filter with you at all times during late spring and summer. Use it on all distance shots. A Polaroid filter comes in mighty handy for bringing out the blue in the sky and cutting out some of the reflections from leaves of the trees when green is the predominant color.

Summer brings us hay time. This phase of farming provides pictorial opportunities to all photographers. Have you ever tried sequence shots of any phase of farming? If not, haying makes a wonderful subject for sequence shots. Let's start as the farmer cuts the hay. A good angle for this shot is from behind and at an angle to the tractor or mule drawn mower. From this angle you can see the blade cutting the hay and also get the width of the swath cut. After the hay has lain in the swath for a day or two it is then raked up into a windrow. After the hay has been raked it is then either hauled to the barn and stored loose, put into small shocks, piled up in large stacks, hauled to a baler in the field or baled directly from the windrow by a pick-up baler. Any or all of these operations make good subjects for your sequence shots. If you want to get more shots for your hay story you can go back to the preparation of the seedbed, fertilization, planting and growing season. Any crop or any type of harvest is a good subject for story telling sequence shots.

Summer is the truck farmer's busiest season. It is when he is gathering his crop and carrying it to town to sell on the curb market. Practically every city has its own curb market. The curb market is full of every kind of farm produce and every color imaginable. If you live in a large city and do not have any transportation out into the country, just find out where the curb market is located and you can make all the pictures you want of farm produce. The markets usually consist of raised concrete platforms with roofs. The trucks loaded with produce back up to the platform from both sides and unload samples. This leaves the center aisle open for the large buyers and other customers. A low angle morning or afternoon sun is best for daylight type color film as this angle of the sun lights up part of the shed under the roof. Any other time of the day it would be best to use time exposure, flash, or some type of supplemental lighting. Many character study shots are available at the curb market because this is as close as many "old timers" ever get to town.

Low camera angle gives force to what could easily have been just a snapshot. This is a sorghum mill in Alabama.

What's cuter than a baby pig? Why three baby pigs. Bill Ash knows it pays to bend your knees and get down for a shot like this one.

Mechanized farming isn't as romantic as the old back-breaking style, but it is more productive. Bright colors make good pix.

The local stockyards are another good place for the suburban or city photographer to get pictures of farm animals. However, the color worker is usually limited to shots of animals in the open outside pens. Practically every large city has a section of town devoted mainly to its stockyards and packing plants.

August is Fair Month

August is usually the month when you find farmers, F.F.A. club members (Future Farmers of America) and boys and girls in 4-H club work getting their animals and other projects ready for the local and state fairs. Take a series of color slides of one of these hopeful youngsters as he takes his club animal—whether it be dairy or beef cattle, pig, or sheep—trains it to lead, stand and pose. He washes and grooms the animal until its hair is as glossy and shiny as that of a Hollywood starlet. If it is a beef animal he even puts curls and waves in the calf's hair. Follow the boy or girl on to the fair with the animal and photograph the proud youngster as he parades his pride and joy before the judge for his approval. You will stand in amazement at the wonderful showmanship of many of these youngsters. I have seen nine and ten year old girls and boys show a thousand pound steer with the grace and ease of a veteran adult showman. This is quite an achievement!

As summer turns into fall the air is crisp, cool and dry. Color photography is usually at its best this time of the year. September is one of the two main months of the year when farmers have their sows farrowing pigs. There are several breeds of hogs representing several different colors. There is the cherry red of the Duroc Jersey, Tamworth and Minnesota No. 1; black of the Berkshire and Poland China; white of the Chester White, O. I. C. and Yorkshire; black with a white belt of the Hampshire; and black and white spots of the Spotted Poland China. These varied colored hogs on green grass, in stalk fields or on dry lot feeding make very interesting subjects for the color photographer. Many excellent shots can be made of the different pens, fields, barns and other buildings on a well kept livestock farm.

With fall comes the time of the year when the fairs are in full swing. Suppose we take off a clear day in late September and go to the State fair. Those of you who saw the technicolor movie "State Fair" remember the gorgeous color scenes that were plentiful at the fairground. We will start at the entrance of the fairground and browse around with our camera, filters, attachments, lighting setup and plenty of film. There is plenty of good subject material right at the entrance with the different colored outfits worn by the hundreds of spectators. Many fairs have photographic exhibits, so we head there first to see the work of photographers in the area covered by this fair. Usually the flower exhibit is in the same building or close by. Here is where we put on our 3+ porta lens and set up our lighting outfit or flash attachment. If you look around you can usually find the ladies exhibits of quilting, crocheting, knitting, sewing, weaving, embroidery and handicraft. As you can easily see there is a world of color at the fair.

We spot the agriculture buildings and go there to see the exhibits of the farmers and youth club members. Here we find the community exhibits sponsored by members of progressive farm communities in the fair area. They include

Livestock

After leaving the exhibit buildings we go over to the livestock barns. In these buildings we see the different breeds of sheep with their wool cleaned and blocked, and the animals ready for the show ring. Here we also see the dairy animals with their coats all slick and glossy, tails fluffed out and horns gleaming and shining from polishing. If approached courteously, nearly any of the owners or herdsmen will be glad to brush up their animals and lead them out into the sun to be photographed; that is if they aren't busy exhibiting the animals. If the ones you want to photograph are being exhibited in the show ring, wait until after the show before requesting the exhibitors to pose their animals. If you can get a fair program it will tell the days the different breeds are exhibited and also the many different subjects on display at the fair. No two breeds of animals are in competition with each other except in open steer competition. Each breed of dairy and beef cattle is shown on different days. The horse show is usually at night with the horse races held in the afternoon. As you can see by now you have to spend at least two or three days at the fair to adequately photograph this great event. Let us assume that the day we go to the fair the Jersey and the Angus are being judged. We have already mentioned the Jersey breed. The Aberdeen Angus are short legged blocky beef animals that are black in color. Angus are usually shown with their hair either curled or with waves in the hair over their hips and shoulders. These animals quite often weigh a ton or more and are so fat they waddle when they walk. Their hair is groomed until it shines like black gold. These animals are literally gold on the hoof as practically all animals at a fair are quite valuable. It was my privilege at the American Royal Livestock Exposition in Kansas City, Missouri in 1946 to see a pair of Missouri mules sell for $1200.00. Here on exhibit was the grand champion Angus bull whose owner had refused to sell him for $60,000.00. This was the year that a club boy sold his champion Hereford steer for $33.50 a pound on the hoof. We also see the deep bodied cherry red and white Hereford beef cattle. Another major breed of beef animals seen at most of the fairs is the Shorthorn. This breed of cattle is either red, white or roan in color.

From the livestock barns we go to the building or tent that houses the poultry exhibit. This building usually contains wire cages with from one to three representatives of all the different breeds of poultry, ornamental domestic fowls, pigeons and rabbits. There are too many different breeds and color combinations of these birds and animals to attempt to put them down in writing.

As we walk out of the poultry building, we come upon a large area of the fairground devoted to exhibits of farm machinery. This area contains the most modern types of tractors and plowing, planting, cultivating and harvesting equipment available to the present day farmer. There are as many different colors as there are different makes of farm machinery.

On our way to the car we go by the horse barns. Here we see the Tennessee walking horses, the thoroughbred race horses and the beautiful western Paliminos with their golden manes and tails. We also see the huge Percheron, Clydesdale and Belgian draft horses. Their color varies with their breed. Out on the track we see the trotters working out for tomorrow's races. Yes, it is time to go and we haven't even seen the midway. But, we will be back next year with more film.

Fall is harvest time. As we drive home from the fair we see corn pickers gathering corn and men picking cotton. We also see a team of mules plodding along in a circle pulling a cane mill as men are making sorghum syrup. Fall also brings the lovely dahlias, colorful glads, the golden brown leaves and beautiful sunsets. This is the time of the year when the golden orange pumpkins are ripe and pumpkin pies are plentiful. The corn is shocked in the field and we are ready to go squirrel or deer hunting. Be sure to take your camera along as you will probably be able to get some wonderful nature shots. Late fall and early winter is apple cider time. Fortunate indeed is the photographer who finds a farmer operating an old hand crank cider press.

Winter sets in earlier in some states than others, but it brings many beautiful colors when it does start. The combination of clear skies, long blue shadows and a snow covered farmstead is hard to beat. After the snow falls is when the farmers of the New England states tap the maple trees and start cooking the maple syrup. Can't you just visualize these scenes recorded on your film. Winter in all states will find steers on feed in farmers feedlots. These animals are either being started out for next fall's shows and sales or are on full feed for the spring markets.

Winter Without Snow

Here in the southeast where there is very little snow, winter is mostly the dormant season with few plants growing. However, hog killing time is in full swing and this activity furnishes many excellent subjects for your camera. A typical hog killing scene takes place down by the spring branch on a clear cold day in November. Here we see a fire built under two or three black wash pots as the water is being heated in which to scald the hog. Close by is a metal barrel with its bottom end sticking in the ground at a forty-five degree angle. The open end is protruding over a large wooden platform built on the ground. When the water gets boiling hot the barrel is filled about half full, and the dead hog is put into the barrel of scalding water. This loosens the hair on the hog's body. After the hog has been thoroughly wet it is pulled out onto the wooden platform and the men start pulling its hair off by the handfuls. This has to be repeated several times and the hog scraped with a butcher knife before it is finally clean. This is an excellent time to use your movie camera, or shoot a story telling sequence of slides. The following day the carcasses are cut up into hams, backbones, shoulders, and sides of bacon. The rest of the meat is ground up and made into country sausage. All the fat is removed from the carcass, cut into small cubes and cooked in a pot for lard. The large cuts of meat are either salted down and stored in a meat box, sugar cured or hung up in the smokehouse and smoked with hickory wood. It takes thirty days to cure each fifteen pounds of meat. One of my salon slides shows hams, shoulders and sides of bacon hanging from the rafters of a country smokehouse.

The nature and pictorial photographer will find that winter opens the door into a new world with its wonderful snow scenes and its many strange and different types of ice formations. Have you ever seen the throne room of a castle in a formation of icicles? Before the snow melts don't forget to get that back lighted snow scene that you have always wanted for your collection.

Agriculture provides an unlimited number of subjects for pictorial or nature photography. Photographing agriculture is more than merely making record shots of America's number one industry. It is a challenge to the photographer to capture pictorially on film a part of America to be viewed and enjoyed by all who love the more beautiful and finer things of life.

The PSA Traveler

The Oldest City In The World Wants To Be Modern

Syria is the only country we found in a globe circling trip which announces at its border that photography is not permitted without authorization. Procuring that authorization entailed a half day of entertainment watching a bureaucracy at work, the while we waited for our permit. Our authorization came in the form of Naem Ejeh, Agent de Sûreté, who was to accompany us on our sightseeing, and "help" us take our pictures of Damascus. Naem was an attractive young man, single, and like all young men of other countries, he would like to come to Hollywood. (Address supplied upon request.) In this oldest city in the world, the government wants the tourist to take pictures of the national monuments, the new modern section of the city, and people in Western dress. The old and colorful, the Middle Eastern dress and way of life, and close-ups of people in native dress are taboo. Naem was happiest when we took a few shots of the wide new avenues, but he seemed to have some secret signal by which he could clear the old streets of interesting characters, laden donkeys, or veiled women whenever we had the cameras in hand. It wasn't quite fair, but we escaped from Naem temporarily when he left us at the door of the Great Mosque, a "national monument," and we slipped out a rear door into some of the quaint old narrow streets to grab a few pictures of which he wouldn't have approved, scenes of the old city which to us mean Damascus, oldest city of the world.—Irma Louise Carter.

PHOTOPROGRESS IN 1952*

By Glenn E. Matthews and George T. Eaton

The year 1952 was probably one of the most successful from a business viewpoint with respect to new products and sales. It was also very fruitful from the research and technological viewpoint with respect to fundamental research; development of new products and processes; and the many scientific, business and technical applications. It was a year of expansion in the educational field where more societies planned extensive programs and symposia on a variety of photographic interests; more high schools and colleges initiated new and additional training in photography; more camera club lectures and programs were planned. It was even beneficial to the historian because the world's first true photo was found, a heliograph by Nicéphore Niépce which was taken, probably, in 1826.

During 1952, amateur still and motion picture photography, both in color and black-and-white, became more popular. Imports of amateur equipment to the United States almost doubled compared to 1951. The trend in the production of theater motion pictures was definitely toward color with the advent of the new color negative-positive processes. Stereoscopic photography in color and black-and-white, both still and motion pictures, developed rapidly with some developments in the professional field.

Amateur and Professional Still Photography

Relatively inexpensive and convenient picture taking was introduced in the United States by the Beaurline Industries in the form of package photography. The packaged camera loaded with film is purchased by the customer who exposes 12 pictures and then returns the camera, without removing it from its package, to the manufacturer for processing and printing. Ansco introduced some new miniature and roll-film cameras: the 35mm Karomat, the 2¼ by 2¼-inch Speedex cameras, and the 2¼ by 3¼-inch Viking cameras. The Kodak Tourist camera exhibited an improved optical viewfinder. The Retinette camera, a modification of the Kodak Retina, was announced.

In Germany most camera factories were being enlarged and new machine tools aided in stepped-up production. It was reported that at least twenty different box cameras, 24 medium sized cameras, and 65 miniature cameras of improved design and finish appeared during the year.

Some of the German roll-film cameras included: the Primoflex Twin Lens Reflex, the Voightlander "Prominent", the Baldix, the Primarflex II, and the Reflekta twin-lens reflex.

Some new Japanese cameras on the American market included: the 35mm Konica, the 35mm Nikon and the Konan 16 Automat.

Among roll-film cameras introduced in France were the 620 size Kinax series, including the Ardennes, Riviera, Provence 10-V, Normandy, Alsace, and Kinax Baby. The Rex Reflex was said to be the first twin lens reflex with interchangeable lenses.

New Italian made 35mm cameras available in this country were the Condor II and the Rectaflex series.

The Minicord camera, introduced by C. P. Goerz of Vienna, is one of the smallest and most complete of the new miniature cameras. Thirty-five 10mm-square negatives can be obtained on 16mm film at about one exposure each second.

The Bertram Recorder camera, introduced in Germany, is a rather unique 2¼ by 3¼-inch press camera, claimed to provide automatic adjustment of the rangefinder, the viewfinder mask, and parallax correction for all three recommended lenses (Functional Photography, 3, No. 5, February, 1952).

Many of the new cameras introduced both here and abroad are equipped for flash photography, with the B-C units becoming more popular. "Bounce-lighting technique" was being used extensively whereby flat lighting is obtained by reflection of light from light-colored areas.

The Finelux flashgun made in Germany features a retractable reflector which opens and closes by push button. Ansco introduced a modern inexpensive flash gun, the JN-206 Flash Unit. The Kodak Duaflex flash holders are equipped with the new Lumiclad reflector made of Tenite coated with aluminum and lacquered for extra protection. A paper of interest by P. A. Marsal and N. M. Potter, "A Dry Battery-Operated Electronic Flash Unit", was published (PSA Jour., PS&T, 18B:21, March, 1952). The Kissling flash buttons, which were made in England, consist of small thin cardboard tubes filled with flash powder and equipped with two prongs that fit into a special adaptor for the regular flash gun. The engineering aspects of the General Electric PR-30 Mascot Photoelectric Exposure Meter were discussed by A. Stimson (ibid. 18B:35, July, 1952).

Several new projection devices for 2 by 2-inch 35mm transparencies included the following: the SVE Schoolmaster Duoslide Projector; the Kodaslide Highlux II and the air-cooled Highlux III Projectors; and the German Baby-Zett Projector. In the Projectograph system, selected 35mm films are inserted in "Pic-Disks" which hold 14 pictures and are handled like phonograph records.

A new fine-grain panchromatic film, known as HP-3 film, was introduced by Ilford, Ltd. (London) in 35mm magazines and 120 size rolls. The most interesting results with this film, however, are the many claims for both fine-grain and high speed when it is developed in Promicrol, a new fine-grain developer. The Ilford HPS ultra-rapid panchromatic plate, intended primarily for press photography, has a claimed Weston rating of about 400 but is not as fine-grained as HP-3 film.

The control of exposure of duPont Varigam Paper was improved by use of a new printing light source developed by the Aristo Grid Lamp Company and R. S. Potter. Contrast is controlled by means of a sliding grid which is moved over two cold cathode tubes to provide the proportions of blue and green light required.

A new drum drier for use with continuous paper processors handling 2400 prints per hour was announced by the Eastman Kodak Company. The processed rolls of amateur prints can be cut at the rate of 4000 prints per hour with an electronically controlled print cutter (Figure 1).

Some new cameras were announced during the year such as the Bell & Howell "200" series for 16mm motion pictures; and the new Revere "40" magazine camera and the Revere "50" with drop-in spool loading for 8mm motion pictures.

Many new lenses for 16mm cameras were available, including some of the Bausch & Lomb Animars, the Kern-Paillard series for the Bolex cameras, the Wollensak Raptar series, and the Kodak Ektars. Probably one of the most interesting lenses is the variable focus Pan Cinor f/2.8 lens which permits a variation in focal length from 20 mm to 60 mm.

New home movie projectors were also evident, including the Bell & Howell 221 Projector (8mm), the Brownie Movie Projector (8mm), and the Cinetechnic Debrie 16mm sound projector, which is stated to have a light output of 450 lumens, the highest of any projector with a filament lamp.

An important innovation in the amateur movie field was the introduction of the magnetic sound track for existing 16mm and 8mm movies. A striping service is available from several companies, such as Reeves Soundcraft, Bell & Howell and Eastman Kodak. Special projectors have been made by several companies which permit a sound track to be recorded on the film as the picture is projected. The advent of the magnetic sound track makes sound movies more available to physicians, educators, business men and amateur movie makers.

Ansco Hypan black-and-white film with a daylight exposure index of 40 for both 8mm and 16mm movies was made available. Kin-o-Lux Laboratories announced a reversal-type high-speed cine film—Gold Seal Special—for use in 8mm and 16mm cameras. It was said to have a tungsten exposure index of 125 and to provide faithful recording up to 7000 cycles per second with long scale and good resolution.

Professional Motion Picture Photography

It was reported that an aerial camera lens, with some redesign, serves as an excellent telephoto lens for cine photography (Amer. Cinemat., 33:438, October, 1952). Military type lenses for 35mm motion picture cameras, known as the Miltar series, were made incorporating features required for military use. The Gauss-Tachar f/2.0 series of coated lenses for 35mm motion picture cameras were made available in this country during the year.

Two new duPont panchromatic reversal films—type 930 and type 931—were especially recommended for television, news reels and other productions demanding rapid processing.

An accessory for exposure determination, the Spectra Brightness Spot Meter, is equipped with a telescopic sight and can measure the reflectance of a 1-inch diameter area at five feet. It has five ranges of brightness from one to one million foot-lamberts and is marketed by the Photographic Research Corporation, Hollywood.

A new Phillips 16mm sound projector for professional use was described in England by R. H. Cricks (Substandard Film, Supp. to Kinemat. Weekly 7, No. 71, 7, June, 1952).

The Synchro-Screen was introduced to eliminate the conventional black masking surround about theater screens. It establishes conditions that provide much better visual and mental relaxation (Jour. SMPTE, 58:522-528, June, 1952).

A new method of composing motion pictures in color or black-and-white was described, involving the use of a Vistascope machine. It uses a foreground matting device in which the matte is a 5½- by 7½-inch still photograph with cutouts through which background action can be seen and photographed in proper placement, size and perspective, thus giving a composite of foreground matte and background action all in one process. This method should not be confused with background transparency photography (Amer. Cinemat., 33:338, August, 1952).

The first meeting of the Cinematographer Committee of the International Standards Organization convened in New York during June for the purpose of formulating definitions, dimensions, methods of measurement and test, and performance characteristics related to materials and apparatus used in silent and sound motion picture photography, in sound recording and reproduction, in laboratory work, and also standards relating to the installation and characteristics of projection and sound reproduction. (Jour. SMPTE 59:349, October, 1952).

A rapid processing machine for motion picture film, called the Debrie "Aiglonne," was introduced in several laboratories in the United States (Functional Phot. 2:13, September, 1951).

Television

Photography played a more important role than ever in television. It was stated that approximately 2800 hours of television films were made in the United States during the year. Motion pictures made prior to 1947 continued to be shown after reproduction on 16mm film, the medium generally used for television. The question of the release to television of current pictures and those made during the past five years was not settled. It did appear, however, that a period of time should elapse between the exhibition of a picture in theaters and its release to television to afford reasonable protection for established theaters.

Several interesting articles discussed various techniques employed in making motion pictures for television. One method permits a continuous check on the final picture and the opportunity for retakes. All musical selection are recorded on a high fidelity tape recorder, duplicated on perforated 16mm magnetic film, and played back for rehearsals (Amer. Cinemat., 33:298, July, 1952).

A new projection system for theater television was developed by General Precision Laboratories and is claimed to have f/0.78 optics. It is a modification of the conventional Schmidt optics with improved efficiency, and from 73 feet projects the image from a 7-inch TV tube over a theater screen measuring 19 by 25 feet (International Projectionist, 127:30, 1952).

Stereoscopic Photography

The interest in both amateur and professional stereoscopic photography continued to develop as evidenced by new techniques and equipment. The most significant advance in the amateur field was the introduction of 16mm stereo motion pictures. The Nord 3-D attachment is attached to 16mm cine cameras for making color or black-and-white stereo motion pictures. Stereo projection is obtained with a unit which splits the light beam from the projector into two pictures. The Bolex Company announced the Stereo Yvar f/2.8 lens for use on their DeLuxe H-16 camera. A twin projection lens was designed for use on the Bell & Howell "202" projector and other 16mm projectors. In this system, single-perforated film can be used and a magnetic sound track added subsequently. Both of these systems require viewing through Polaroid glasses.

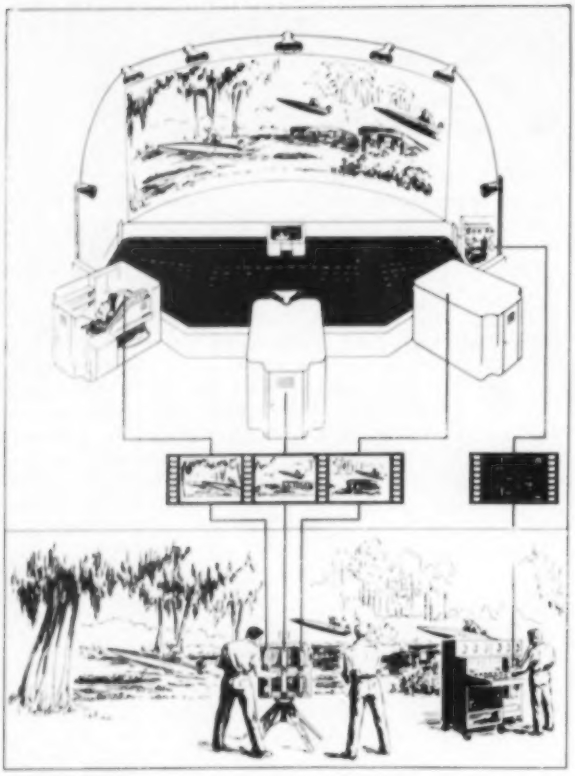

Fig. 2. Diagrammatic sketch of the Cinerama. A 3-lensed camera, shown at the bottom, records the scene on three separate strips of film which are projected subsequently by three synchronized projectors onto a huge curved screen. Six microphones located strategically around the scene, record the sound magnetically as six tracks on a single film. Great realism is achieved when the sound is reproduced with six loudspeakers located behind the screen and at the sides and back of the auditorium. Cinerama, Inc. Photo.

Fig. 3. The 3-lensed Cinerama camera is fastened on the prow of a motor boat to record sequences at Florida Cypress Gardens of first production "This is Cinerama" by new multi-dimensional process. Cinerama, Inc. Photo.

The Sawyer Personal View Master Camera utilizes 35mm film but produces a negative or transparency of smaller dimensions than usual, 12 by 13mm each. With this equipment the amateur can now make his own View Master reels.

Color has become important to the amateur stereo enthusiast, and 35mm Kodachrome film, Daylight and Type A, is available especially loaded to provide stereo pairs correctly spaced. Stereo pairs are mounted by the Eastman Kodak Company for stereo viewing before return to the customer.

In March a six-lens stereo camera was introduced in England known as the Lentic Stereo Camera. It produces six images that vary slightly in perspective according to the lateral offset of the lenses. A special enlarger is required to produce a transparency or print which can be viewed in three-dimensional perspective without polarizing glasses or other optical accessories. The enlargement is permanently bonded in processing to a plastic lenticulated screen. It is being used in the United States for advertising pictures.

In the professional field the Cinerama, originally demonstrated in 1951, was introduced to the public at the Broadway Theater in New York. Although not strictly stereoscopic, the illusion of three dimensions is created through a combination of psychological reactions, color, and stereophonic sound. Color films are projected simultaneously from three projectors onto a concave screen composed of 1100 narrow vertical strips, so that the three images on the screen blend to form one continuous image, 51 feet wide by 25 feet high (Figures 2 and 3). Also in the theater field is the Telecinema which was developed for the Festival of Britain in 1951. This system employs twin projectors and Polaroid glasses.

Hollywood introduced the motion picture industry's first feature length three-dimensional film, "Bwana Devil", made on Ansco Color Film. The Natural Vision Corporation's system was utilized: two 35mm Mitchell cameras are mounted in a single unit with the lens turrets facing each other, equipped with a pair of lenses of equivalent focal length. Between the lenses are two front-surfaced mirrors positioned with a micrometer adjustment to reflect the image into the lens and to correct for parallax. The two film strips are projected on twin projectors interlocked to run in unison (Amer. Cinemat., 33:336, August, 1952).

The Veri-Vision Camera was described as a twin lens camera that simultaneously photographs two images, one above the other, on one film strip, thus eliminating movement parallax (Amer. Cinemat., 33:204, May, 1952).

Color Photography

A trend toward negative-positive color processes was noted. This trend was more apparent in Europe, with five companies manufacturing color negative films, which are fundamentally copies of the Agfacolor process. "Pakolor" was introduced during the year. All of these manufacturers offer a color print service. In the United States Kodak Ektachrome Roll Film Type B in No. 120 and 620 rolls was announced for use with 3200 K lamps. It was also stated during the year that the quality of Kodacolor prints had been improved and that experiments were underway with a new type of Kodacolor paper for professional photographers.

Some new flash lamps were introduced including the General Electric No. 11-B (blue) for use with daylight color negative-positive films; the Dura Electric Company's Duraflash lamps for color work with artificial light; and the Sylvania No. 8 (Peanut) Flash Lamp which gives exposures equivalent to the SM Lamps, when one stop less is used, although only one-half the size of the SM lamp.

Of significant interest to the amateur 8mm color motion picture enthusiast was the substantial improvement in the sharpness of 8mm Kodachrome pictures. A new processing technique is responsible which reduces dye spreading and color diffusion in the film. Correct exposure and the use of good camera-projector optics make the improved sharpness even more noticeable.

In the professional motion picture field more than half of the feature films were in color. It is expected that the proportion of color to black-and-white will increase at a rapid rate as more facilities become available.

Technicolor still leads the field with 89 Technicolor features reported either in production, in preparation, or under contract for 1952. However, other processes were demonstrated during the year. Probably of greatest interest was the documentary record, "The Royal Journey", made of the journey of Princess (now Queen) Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh to Canada and Washington in 1951. The picture was made on the new 35mm camera film. Eastman Color Negative Film, and the release positives for theater projection made on Eastman Color Print Film. This is a color negative-positive system which permits printing on other color print films. For example, the release prints of "Royal Journey" for showing in England, were made there on the new Gevacolor and Ferraniacolor Films, and some release prints in this country were made on DuPont 275 Positive Film. This DuPont film is unique in that the gelatin is replaced by a synthetic polymer.

The new Warnercolor negative-positive process was used in the releases, "The Lion in the House", "Carson City", and "The Miracle of Our Lady of Fatima". (Amer. Cinemat., 33:384, September, 1952). The new Ansco color negative-positive process was used in the filming of "The Wild North" by MGM.

Military and Aerial Photography

Research and development of new photographic equipment and techniques for photography by the military continued and a greater interest in the application of aerial methods to both military and non-military problems was evident.

A light high-speed 70mm combat camera manufactured by Graflex for the Army Signal Corps was said to have all the advantages of the 35mm miniature camera. The camera is said to be impervious to dust, light, fungus, moisture, and will work efficiently at 40 degrees below zero.

A new wide-angle 10-component lens designed by L. Bertele for aerial cameras was described (Science Newsletter, 61:83, September 20, 1952).

The Wollensak Mirrotel lenses were shown at the convention of Professional Photographers Association in Chicago. Mirrors are used instead of lenses to fold the light path.

The Fairchild Camera and Instrument Corporation announced a new rapid camera shutter for aerial cameras designed for use in photo reconnaissance which gives clearer and more accurate pictures at higher flying speeds than with previous shutters (Science Newsletter, 61:35, January, 1952).

The strategic air command's RB-36 Photo Reconnaissance Planes were described as equipped for inter-continental reconnaissance to collect photo, weather, and electronic data simultaneously. The plane is equipped with 14 cameras that can take approximately 2800 pictures without reloading the camera magazines (Air Forces, 35:31, June, 1952).

Photography was used again effectively to record the atomic explosion tests at the Nevada Proving Grounds where 2100 Marines participated, the largest number of troops to date. (Figure 4). It is understood that photographs were also made of the British atomic tests off the west coast of Australia.

The National Research Council of Canada described a technique for increasing the amount of detail transferred from an aerial negative to the aerial photograph. It involves the Herschel effect (Jour. Opt. Soc. Amer. 41:748, November, 1951).

Fig. 4. Photographic Record showing U. S. Marines taking part in the Atomic Explosion Tests in Nevada. U. S. Defense Dept. Photo (Marine Corps).

The Seventh International Congress of the International Society of Photogrammetry convened in Washington D.C. September 4-12, 1952. A preliminary report of Commission VII on photographic interpretation is given in Photogrammetric Engineering, 18, No. 3, 375-471, June, 1952.

The great meteorite crater in Ungava, Quebec, which is of geographic interest, was discovered from aerial photographs made a few years ago. Two expeditions to the crater were shown in a 16mm color silent motion picture and also described in an article, "Solving the Riddle of Chubb Crater," published in the January, 1952, issue of the National Geographic Magazine.

The Photographic Process

A new film base was announced by duPont which was said to be tougher and to have greater dimensional stability than any of the present types of film base. The ability to hold size over a wide range of atmospheric conditions is an extremely important film characteristic in motion picture production, in graphic arts and in the production of industrial photo templates. The new material is a polyester and is chemically related to "Dacron" polyester fiber (N. Y. Times, 101:6F, December 23, 1951).

Considerable research on photographic developing agents was reported. Studies in the hydroquinone and para-aminophenol series were described by Henn (PSA Jour., PS&T, 18B:51-55, July, 1952; also 18B:90, October, 1952). Formaldehyde was shown to be a developing agent but not suitable for practice because of the poor keeping characteristics of the developer solution (ibid., 18B:2, March 1952). Ilford Ltd. in England disclosed a developing agent" Phenidone", known chemically as 1-phenyl 3-pyrazolidone, which is very satisfactory when used in place of Kodak Elon Developing Agent in quite active Elon-hydroquinone developers. A chemical compound know as reductone and obtained from sugar was described as a developer of warm tone prints by Stewart at the University of Kentucky. Kodak introduced two new packaged developers, Ektonol and Duomat, primarily for continuous processing of paper prints.

A constituent of many rapid liquid fixers, ammonium thiosulfate, in combination with citric acid was recommended as a silver and silver sulfide stain remover, and as a proportional reducer for negatives and for overexposed or overdeveloped prints. When color film is developed accidentally in a black-and-white developer, the resulting orange color can be bleached out with an ammonium hypo reducer (PSA Jour., 18:587-591, October, 1952).

Rapid processing of films and papers is becoming more important in many applications. A recent paper describes the equipment and methods for high speed processing at elevated temperatures with complete processing cycles as short as one or two seconds or less (Photographic Engineering, 3:65-77, 1952).

The physics of the photographic image was considered quite extensively. Probably the greatest impact was the discovery by Jones and Higgins of the Kodak Research Laboratories that resolving power as usually measured cannot be used to predict the ability of a lens or film to produce sharp pictures. Apparently other factors, such as emulsion characteristics, have a large effect on the ultimate sharpness of an image (J. SMPTE, 58:277-290, April, 1952).

Documentary and Industrial Photography

One of the outstanding needs in the field of document reproduction has been a simple clean rapid process suitable for office use that did not require running water and preferably no solutions. Stabilization processing was a step in this direction; the undeveloped silver salts were converted to fairly stable silver compounds that were left in the print, thus eliminating the need for print washing.

Several new document copying systems were introduced during the year, including Copy-Rapid (Agfa), Autostat (American Photocopy Equipment Co.), Transcopy (Remington Rand), and the Copi-Stat (General Photo Products Co.). These systems provide a single copy of the original document and they are all variants of the same process. The light-sensitive sheet is exposed by either print-through or reflex printing and developed to a negative which is then placed in close contact with a paper receiving sheet. The undeveloped silver salts transfer to the receiving sheet in which there are "nuclei" that initiate development of the transferred material producing a positive image.

Fig. 5. Apparatus for Rapid Document Copying. Exposure and development can be done on this equipment. About 3 copies can be made in 90 seconds. Eastman Kodak Company Photo.

The Verifax process was announced this year by Eastman Kodak Company. It is a document copying method that provides several positive-to-positive copies of the original document and is based on an entirely different process than the one described above. The light-sensitive sheet (which can be handled in room light) is exposed by reflex printing and developed in a solution which forms a dark dye and hardens the gelatin in the exposed areas. The sheet is then placed in close contact with a plain paper receiving sheet and the soft dyed gelatin image (i.e., unexposed areas) is transferred to it (Figure 5). About three copies can be made by successive transfers from the single negative sheet.

There were new materials described for use in the reproduction of documents and engineering drawings. Kodagraph Contact Fine-Line Paper was designed for reproducing originals with very fine detail, drawings and documents in poor condition and printed halftone originals. In the engineering field Kodagraph Repro-Negative Paper is essentially a high contrast line-copy material which can be used in normal room light. It provides a negative and, for this reason, is especially useful in the reproduction of blueprints and Van Dyke prints.

A new projection positive paper having a basically new-type emulsion was announced by Eastman Kodak Company and will be known both as Photostat Positive and Kodagraph Projection Positive. It can be used in regular Photostat Copying Machines, or in a process camera to make direct reduction positives from large drawings, or with an enlarger to produce positive prints from positive microfilm records.

Reduced-size copies of all kinds of original material were used in more applications primarily to save space, to facilitate filing and reference, and to simplify quantity reproduction of originals. A rather specialized item of industrial photocopy equipment, the Neo-Flow Reducing Camera, was introduced by Peerless Photo Products, Inc. The camera reduces in a range of ratios from 6:1 or down and produces right-reading or mirror-image copies on either sensitized paper or film.

New microfilming equipment included: a portable, automatic microfilming camera developed by Diebold, Inc., which will accept letter-size copy at the rate of 90 feet per minute; a Recordak Bantam Microfilmer for desk-top use that photographs at a reduction ratio of 90 to 1, has interchangeable lenses for other reduction ratios, and accepts about 500 check-size documents per minute; and the Kodak Radiograph Copying Unit for copying 14 x 17-inch radiographs on 35mm film for the preparation of lecture slides and many other uses.

Speaking of documents, the National Bureau of Standards Circular No. 505 is worthy of mention because it describes in detail the methods used for the preservation of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States.

Picture-taking in industry as a means of communicating ideas and information gained greater recognition from industrial management. Several papers of interest in this field were published. TVA inventories its stock piles of coal and phosphates from aerial photographs. A stereo-plotting machine is used to draw one-foot contours and the area of each of the layers represented by a contour is measured with a planimeter to determine the volume of coal (Business Week, p. 103; July 5, 1952). Photography in steel research relative to the studies of blast furnaces was discussed by R. A. Buchanan (PSA Jour., PS&T, 18B:66, October, 1952). A very worthwhile paper by R. C. Kinstler discussed the organization of a photographic department in a chemical plant (ibid., 18B:41, July, 1952).

Scientific Photography

Photographic emulsions of special types were used in new techniques developed in the field of nuclear physics. The shortest-lived fundamental subatomic particle known, the neutral meson, was discovered. An emulsion cloud chamber, utilizing carefully aligned alternate layers of absorbing material brass) and special photographic emulsion, was attached to free balloons which ascended 20 miles into the stratosphere. From micro measurements made on the developed emulsion the particle was found to have a life of only a hundred million millionth of a second.

A new experimental permeable base stripping film was announced by Eastman Kodak Company for use in other autoradiographic methods.

Photographic nuclear emulsions are used to obtain records of the particles produced when a nucleus is accelerated in special machines and collides with a target atom. When the neutron was discovered in 1932, five basic units of matter and energy were known. Now, with the aid of synchrotons and other atom-disintegrating devices, twelve have been established definitely and nine more are considered probably (Scientific American, 186:22, January, 1952).

The major astronomical event during the year was the Solar Eclipse, February 25. Experts from ten nations studied it from a site in Khartum, Sudan. The data obtained with complex photographic and astronomical equipment may help to unravel more of the mysteries of the universe (Figure 6). B. J. Bok of the Harvard College Observatories made a study on circular plates of the Southern Milky Way system at a station at Bloemfontein, South Africa, where it can best be photographed.

Electron micrographs in color were described by G. W. Cochran and J. Chidester. The process involves depositing silver chloride on an already developed picture, re-exposing to light and developing a second time. (J. App. Physics, 23:157, January, 1952).

High-speed photography continued to be an invaluable research tool in science and industry. Of particular merit was the especially well-written and illustrated paper by C. D. Miller and K. Shaftan, who discussed high speed photography in design (Product Eng., 23:167, September, 1952). A new ultra high-speed camera for the study of knock in spark-ignited piston engines was described that operates at 100,000 frames per second (Jour. SMPTE, 58:364, April, 1952). An entire issue of the Photographic Journal was devoted to high-speed photography (Sect. B, September-October, 1952). A Servo-Syno Camera Drive System was described which provides five times closer time synchronization for a series of motion picture cameras taking pictures at the same time to close tolerance. This is very important in data recording, missile tracking, and ordnance evaluation, etc.

Photography is invaluable in rocket research. An amazing variety of specialized photographic instruments furnish precise information about velocity, acceleration, range, altitude, spin-rate and so on. As missiles become faster and go farther, instrumentation becomes more difficult (Photogrammetric Eng., 18:686-692, September, 1952, and PSA J., PS&T, 18B:69-70, October, 1952).

A few specialized cameras were devised for other scientific purposes. A Bore-Hole camera that takes 360 degree photographs of a 3-inch diameter bore-hole was used to study flaws in bed rock and concrete structures. A conical mirror was used in the camera and undistorted pictures were obtained by projection onto a cylindrical screen (Eng. News Record, 148:90, March 27, 1952). Another camera was developed to record the horizon in all directions and at frequent intervals in connection with studies of thunderstorm activity (Rev. Sci. Instr., 22:850-851, November, 1951).

Each year geologists and archeologists use photography extensively as a valuable recording medium for the photography of field specimens. H. P. Zuidema photographed fossils of insects over 20 million years old that he found in Montana shales (Figure 7).

In medicine, a Fairchild aerial camera was used at the rate of two frames per second to obtain a succession of x-ray pictures showing the path and rate of movement of a special solution through the bloodstream (Life, 32:129, February 25, 1952). Although not a new technique, x-ray motion pictures of the heart have been improved so that they now serve as an invaluable diagnostic aid in congenital heart disease and disturbances of swallowing as well as in other afflictions (J. Biol. Phot. Assoc., 20:14-20, February, 1952; also Jour. SMPTE 59:300, October 1952).

Your Springtime Movie of Washington

By Frank E. Gunnell, APSA

A Motion Picture Division Feature

Gunnell on steps of National Art Gallery

SPRINGTIME IN WASHINGTON, D. C., AND COLOR FILM! WHAT A WONDERFUL COMbination for the amateur movie maker fortunate enough to be able to spend a few days or longer in America's capital in the Springtime! Not only is Washington the 'Second home' of every American and the United States' most beautiful city, but it is the one great city of our land that constantly reminds us America's great heritage and destiny as the land 'of the people, by the people, and for the people.' Add to all this the gorgeous displays of blossoms that Spring brings to Washington and you have a color motion picture subject mighty hard to beat!

Surely a film of the Nation's Capital belongs in every movie maker's film library.

Of course a film based on Washington could be made anytime, for there's almost no limit to the subject matter, story, theme, or even season, that can form the basis of a film with a Washington background. But, having visited Washington at various times during the year, we'll string along with the photographers who prefer Washington in the Spring—and there's certainly a lot of them if one judges by the innumerable cameras, both still and movie, to be seen around the famed Tidal Basin in Cherry Blossom time. Not only do the cherry blossoms enhance all of Washington in the Spring, but from early April through May, and on into June, there's a succession of beautiful blossoms—magnolias, dogwood, azaleas, pansies, tulips, roses, and other lovely forms of plant life, that enable the movie maker to make each scene in his Washington film a thing of beauty.

Admittedly there'll be great crowds of people in Washington throughout Springtime, and particularly so during early April when the Cherry trees bloom. It's a time when you can expect accommodation troubles unless you've made room reservations well in advance, or taken along a house trailer (which we do!). Getting around in Washington by car and finding places to park may be difficult too, but the magnificent beauty of the many impressive government buildings, monuments, and memorials, makes it all worthwhile especially when they're all framed in the colorful blossoms of Spring. Just one thing, avoid getting caught in the rush hour traffic into and out of Washington in the mornings and evenings—it's enough to scare you to death!

The movie maker with limited time, or who just wants to film the Washington highspots amid the beauties of Spring, will do well to concentrate his efforts in the area bounded by the Capitol Building and grounds to the east of the Mall, and Potomac Park on the banks of the Potomac River directly to the west. In this park-like stretch of land, and closely adjacent areas, will be found many of the noted Washington scenes—the Capitol, Supreme Court, Congressional Library, House of Representatives and Senate Buildings, Union Station, National Art Gallery, Smithsonian Institute, White House, Washington Monument, Lincoln and Jefferson Memorials, the Tidal Basin, and numerous fountains, memorials, and statues, as well as impressive buildings devoted to the work of various government agencies.

A large scale map of Washington, often with pictures as well as names of the principal points of interest, can be obtained at any large gasoline station and will be very helpful in finding one's way around. One of the great advantages of having a house trailer (besides being sure of a place to sleep) is the close proximity of the Washington Tourist Park on Hains Point to this entire region. In fact, the Tidal Basin and Jefferson Memorial with their surroundings of lovely cherry trees are practically next door to this government operated park.

The best way to get good pictures around Washington is the same as elsewhere—namely, on foot! Of course one can easily take a bus or taxi to a particular section of the city before starting to walk. Cameras and camera equipment are everywhere in evidence in Washington and barring restrictions on the use of tripods on the Capitol Building Grounds without special permission, you should have no trouble unless you try to barge in on some special function. Permission to use a tripod on the Capitol Grounds can usually be obtained in the Chief Architect's office in the basement of the Capitol Building. I believe the restriction is designed to make sure the tripod user is an 'amateur.' Somehow the government officials seem to feel that only 'commercial' photographers carry tripods!

Walking around Washington, or any other place, loaded down with camera equipment is an increasingly difficult problem as the amount of equipment increases, so try to get along with a reasonable number of cameras, lenses, etc. After all, if you want to make both movies and still pictures you'd better concentrate on one job at a time and make another trip! We have seen Washington movie makers and still photographers who loaded all their equipment, including a good sized ladder for high angle shots, on a child's express wagon or other form of cart, and so pulled their way around Washington. At least this is one form of 'pull' in Washington to which no one can object on moral grounds!

The cherry blossoms rate as an excellent frame for many Washington landmarks. In a still it is difficult to include people, but in a movie it can be done. The scene below shows why still compositions with people require some study.

Of course a motion picture of Washington should not consist merely of a series of still scenes of government buildings even if they are surrounded by the beautiful blossoms of spring. A theme—patriotic, historical, dramatic, romantic, or even comic, must be the 'raison d'etre' for the film. Our film may tell a documentary story of some phase of Washington life itself, perhaps just the story of the cherry trees. Or, it may tell an inspirational story based on our government, its history, or the men involved in its great principles and traditions. Or perhaps we may just want to tell a story of Washington as seen by a visiting citizen from Kokomo, or by a visitor from a foreign land who finds inspiration in the principles of democracy as evidenced in the Washington scene.

But, you say, I won't have time to film as ambitious a motion picture as is indicated above. After all that's for the long time visitor to Washington, or for a movie maker who lives in Washington or near enough to visit it frequently. I'm only planning on a few days or a week or so in Washington.

Stately Mount Vernon is not too easy to shoot as the lawns slope away. Time of day is important. Try some shots from the porch, too, working people in, if possible.

All right, how about planning for a good bit of human interest to be included in your scenically beautiful film of Washington in the Springtime?

Human interest centers mostly around living things, people and animals, and their reactions to the varied situations they meet. There's no shortage of human interest subjects, particularly people, in Washington in the Spring. What about the numerous photographers we mentioned, some really overloaded with equipment and kept so busy fussing with its complications that they miss the best shots? How about the movie makers who get into all sorts of unusual postures while seeking startling angle shots? Why not film a 'running gag' or two to splice in between those essentially scenic shots? How about one based on the photographer who gets set up to take a fine scene only to have crowds of people step in front of his camera over and over again? Or perhaps you can manage to have him urged to 'move on' by an arm of the law everytime he's just gotten ready to start the camera after a lot of preparation! Maybe when your photographer has finally found a spot where he can photograph in peace he'll be discovered to have left the film home, or it'll start to rain (fake with a hose at home), or a child with a dog on a leash will come running by and upset his careful arrangements by making him grab up his equipment to save it from damage.

Other ideas for human interest amid your Washington scenes are as numerous as the people and animals. What about all those steps leading up to the big buildings in Washington? How about cutting in scenes involving the endless ups and down of the capital visitor? Perhaps there's a good opportunity of character studies of shoes or feet here, or even a bit of 'cheesecake'. If you have a small child or a pet, or both, why not work them into the step climbing scenes? A tiny child climbing huge steps will certainly have an emotional effect on your audiences.

Another treatment for a Washington film might be based on the various ways the crowds of Washingtonians and

The Kodak BULLETIN

Discovering the Kodak Duaflex Camera, f/8

Photography is to be enjoyed. If you're all tangled up in technique—if the equipment is wagging the photographer—then here's a camera to cure your ills and restore your hobby!

Photographers are snobbish about cameras. Normally, maybe, you wouldn't think of the Kodak Duaflex Camera, Kodar Model, for your own use. After all, it's priced under $25.

But take another look—a good one—for here's a camera that upsets all the rules.

It's good optically. It's good mechanically. It's good-looking. It handles well. It handles simply. It forestalls errors. It's fun to use. It lets you see what you're getting—clearly. It allows you to concentrate on your subject—not on twiddling scales and reading dials. It capably covers a wide range of subjects and situations. Its lens is the right speed for the majority of outdoor and flash shots. Its negatives are sharp and clean. It leaves you free to have a good time, planning and taking pictures—and its very simplicity poses a challenge, brings back the old zest to your hobby.

No matter what cameras you own now—no matter what you paid for them—you'll get more enjoyment from photography if you also own a Kodak Duaflex Camera, Kodar Model, with f/8 lens.

You're In Good Company

Kodak is still in process of discovering how good the Duaflex f/8 is—and so are many others.

Here, for example, is a famous photographic illustrator. For his professional work he uses the most expensive cameras and lenses money can buy. For his personal photography—a Kodak Duaflex f/8. How did this happen? He tried one.

And here's a hobbyist who writes to Kodak—so enthusiastic about the Duaflex f/8 that he owns three of them! One for each of his three favorite films, Kodak Super-XX, Kodacolor Daylight Type, and Kodacolor Type A.

Why Such Enthusiasm?

It's easy enough to make an inventory of this camera's features (as we've done at the right). But that won't give you the full story. You've got to pick up its capable 14 ounces . . . loop its strap over your neck . . . cradle it in your hands . . . look down into that big, beautiful finder . . . feel the essential rightness of each detail. You've got to take a series of pictures, and enjoy the satisfaction of a camera that's full of performance—yet doesn't tie you up in mathematics and scientific problem-solving.

And when you fall in love with this little camera—when you find you're taking a lot more pictures, and having a lot more fun in the taking—don't say you weren't fairly warned.

EASTMAN KODAK COMPANY
Rochester 4, N. Y.

P.S.—The Kodak Duaflex f/8 makes a grand gift, to start your wife or child in photography. But get two of them at the start—so you won't be borrowing all the time.

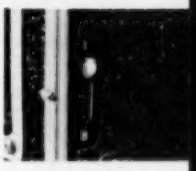
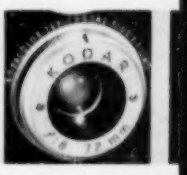
Here's why you'll enjoy a Kodak Duaflex f/8

• Let's start at the top and work down. Here's a big hooded reflex finder, 1⅜ inches square. Look down into it. Brilliant. Crystal-clear. Easy to use if you wear glasses, or if you don't. Every detail of your picture, accurately previewed.



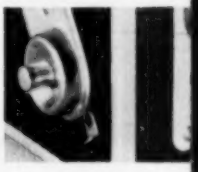
• Next, a shutter without problems. Two settings—one for snapshots, one for longer exposures. Self-setting—no cocking to remember. And adequate speed not only for all quiet subjects, but also for moderate motion if you know your action technique.



• And here, a lens that belongs on a more expensive camera. Not a simple meniscus, not a doublet, but a sharp-cutting three-element objective, amply corrected for all the common optical errors, and for color. Aperture, f/16 to f/8—the biggest slice of useful speed on a roll-film camera, plus excellent quality, at a minimum price.

• Built-in flash synchronization, of course.

• And an aperture scale that talks: f/16, bright sun on snow or sand; f/11, bright sun; f/8, hazy sun. No guides to check; data right on the camera.



• And focusing—infinity down to 3½ feet. Any better range, for distant and close work, on any of your more expensive hand cameras?

• Here's a double-exposure prevention device. This, you'd expect only on a precision miniature or a top-price reflex. And you can make deliberate double exposures at will.

• And some details. Tripod socket. Camera stands level on a level surface. Body is of metal with tough molded side panels, handsomely leather-grained, and edges metal-bound. Weight, about 14 ounces. And the price, $22.30, including neck strap. Accessory Flash-older, $4.25. Field case, drop front, $2.65. Lens accepts all Series V filters, Portra lenses, etc., with 1⅛-inch adapter ring.

Prices include Federal Tax and are subject to change without notice.

Experts' Choices For Fine Prints

WHY does Kodak make so many printing papers—fast, slow, medium—in so many textures, tints, degrees of sheen, contrast grades, weights, and sizes?

To show why, Kodak invited a group of top-rank photographers to tell how they select a specific paper for a specific picture, specific qualities, a specific effect. Here is a review of the first seven selections, published in the 1952 photographic magazines.

Kodak Medalist Paper appeared just about the time most of these photographers made their selections—choosing, of course, from prints which had already achieved notable success. Today, the range of choice would be wider, for Kodak Medalist—faster than Opal, warmer than Kodabromide, flexible in manipulation and contrast control, with four contrast grades and an excellent range of surface choices—has become the new sensation of the Kodak paper family.

BERNARD SILBERSTEIN, FPSA, FRPS, printed "Full Sail" on Kodak Illustrators' Special Paper. His exhibition print has appeared in over forty salons, and has never been rejected. He chose Illustrators' for its superb tonal scale from clear highlights to richest darks, its lustrous fine-grained "E" surface, which preserves tonal range and richness, and the unique blue tones it yields in his favorite gold-thiourea formula.

ELMORE C. ADAMS, APSA, chose Kodak Opal Paper G for "The Brush Burner," which has also appeared in more than forty salons. Opal's warmth, its magnificent tonal range and delicacy, its moderate speed and response to manipulation, formed the basis for selection.

KNOW YOUR KODAK PAPERS, FOR KNOWLEDGE SPELLS SUCCESS

These are the papers for fine exhibition enlargements, gift prints, home decoration, and specialized applications—in a range of types to fit your every need:

For fast printing, fine warm-black tones, and great flexibility in manipulation—Kodak Medalist Paper.

For rich neutral blacks in a top-speed paper—Kodabromide Paper. Five evenly spaced grades and nine combinations of sheen, texture, tint, and weight.

For rich warm blacks in a moderate-speed paper—Kodak Platino Paper. Three printing grades.

For widest choice of tint and surface in a paper of utmost tonal quality and adaptability to toning—brown-black Kodak Opal Paper. One printing grade.

For Opal quality with twice the speed of Opal—Kodak Ektalure Paper G.

For Opal quality in a special fine-grained surface suited equally to exhibition and reproduction—Kodak Illustrators' Special.

For photomurals—Kodak Mural R.

For transilluminated prints—Kodak Translite Paper.

For extra-fast printing and processing—Kodak Resisto Rapid N. It's as fast as Kodabromide; and its special base allows washing and drying in ten minutes.

And for contact prints—Kodak Azo, Velox, Resisto N, and others. Each Kodak enlarging paper has a contact-paper counterpart, equivalent in type and quality.

For full details on these fine Kodak papers—tints, surfaces, weights, processing—consult the Data Book on Kodak Papers, and your Kodak dealer.

JOSEF SCHNEIDER, famed illustrator of children, named four choices for "Susan"—depending on the purpose of the print. Personal prints for Susan's mother—Kodak Opal Paper. Prints for fine reproduction, Kodak Illustrators' Special (or Medalist No. 3 if extra contrast is needed). And where fine display prints are required in quantity, speedy Kodak Medalist Paper.

CARL MANSFIELD, M. Photog., FPSA, chose Kodak Opal G for his "Minnow Catching"—which has hung in eighty-eight salons from Albany, N. Y., to Zaragoza, Spain. All his exhibition prints (except glossies) are on Opal—because it retains so much of the negative's tonal range, offers many surfaces to fit the moods of various pictures, and can readily be toned cool or warm to enhance a pictorial mood.

AXEL BAHNSEN, FPSA, FRPS, desired cool objectivity with maximum detail in "Pattern Motif 283." To get it, he chose glossy Kodabromide F; its pure white stock, glass-smooth surface, and cool-to-neutral image tone all contributed to the impression he desired this print to convey.

FRANK HELLER, FRPS, APSA, chose Kodak Opal G for "Eucalyptus." The rich darks and delicate light tones of the subject demanded a paper of fullest tone scale, plus the ability to separate closely spaced tones at both ends of the scale—and Opal excels on both these counts.

GOTTLIEB HAMPFLER, FPSA, also chose the favorite of all salon papers, Kodak Opal G, for "Pennsylvania Snowscape." Its full scale, delicacy of gradation, luminous image quality, and complete reliability were the controlling factors.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB PRINT COMPETITION

DR. GRANT M. HAIST, Associate Editor

The second competition of the season was held at the Baltimore Camera Club with Robert V. George again in charge of the judging arrangements. Eighty-five camera clubs, including 7 entering for the first time, submitted a total of 338 prints. One Class A and 5 Class B clubs failed to send entries for the December judging.

The Early Shift — Mathew Rombey

First, Class B

Due to the rush of the holiday season, the judging session was held on Sunday, December 21, 1952, but the system for handling the prints was the same efficient one as was used for the October contest. The judges were Charles E. Emery, APSA, prominent salon judge, lecturer and exhibitor, author of "Photogenic Annapolis"; C. P. Taylor, salon exhibitor and judge, author and teacher, and winner of 1951 Maxwell Trophy; and William M. Von Schulz, well-known teacher of art and photography, and salon exhibitor.

The Photographic Guild of Detroit was again the top scoring club in Class A with 121 points and now lead the second place Kodak Camera Club by 24 points. Dyckman Camera Club topped Class B with 102 points and took over second place in Class B just 6 points behind the leading Hollywood Camera Club.

In Class A, "Dismasted", the top scoring print with 33 out of a possible 36 points, won the first place medal for its maker, John Applegate of the Grosse Point Camera Club. The next four prints were tied with 32 points each. After a lively discussion on the relative merits of each print, the judges selected "Crystal Pattern" by Lowell Miller, Kodak Camera Club for the second award and "The Glasshopper" by Charles Buker, Photographic Guild of Detroit, for third. "The Old Mill" by H. Ivan Bryden of the Endicott Camera Club and "In An Alcove" by Ed Stack, Lawson Camera Club, were awarded top honorable mentions for their prints.

The top scoring print in Class B with 32 points was Matthew Rombey's "Early Shift" from the Dyckman Camera Club. "Texture" by Rudy Escarcega, Hollywood Camera Club, scored 31 points and took second place honors. "Security" with 30 points won the third award for Lawrence Spitzig of the Tripod Camera Club.

Commenting on the general level of the entries, "Bob" George reported "that the entries for the December contest were far below the standard as set by the entries for October. The (judges) noted particularly the absence of good action shots, and the preponderance of poorly executed still-life pictures."

The relative ranking of the top ten clubs in each class follows. A more complete listing of the participating clubs will be given after the February judging.

Chirps From The Robbins

May we just once more urge all Portfolio secretaries to carefully go over the Notebook whenever it returns to their hands and earnestly seek material for this little column. Don't you find it interesting to find here the thoughts and ideas of fellow members; as well as an introduction to new members? I know I do. It seems somehow to give a nice perspective, a bit closer feeling between all members.

It is just one more little link in the Portfolio chain, a link that ties all Portfolios together. Won't you let us meet some of your fellow members, too?

The next time you receive your Portfolio go over it carefully and pick out what you think would be of interest generally. Maybe it will be a thought someone has put into words, or a new idea, or perhaps a new member has given an interesting introduction of himself. Whatever it is, send it along to me. We'll find a spot for it!

PD Directory and several Digest departments are omitted this month for lack of space.

C. "JERRY" DERBES, Associate Editor

The Salon Workshop is certainly making progress. In the short time of four months that this activity has been "in business", seventeen groups have been formed and are working with some very fine negatives. From all reports everyone seems to be enjoying this fascinating activity and while it is a considerable job keeping up with the details, I enjoy the work immensely. It is interesting to see how fifteen people crop a print and observe the different variations of printing from the same negative.

Every day's mail brings several requests for applications. If you are interested, all you need do is write to me and an application will be promptly mailed to you.

Group #5 has just finished its first circuit in record time, the first group to finish to date. The prints, and they are all surprisingly good, will be sent to Mr. Thomas Limborg, APSA, who is "Master of the Group". He will judge the prints, select a winner to whom we will award a beautiful salon print made from this negative. Mr. Limborg will also comment on the prints, pointing out the good points as well as the bad. Just as soon as this has been completed all fifteen prints, plus one of like size made by Mr. Limborg will begin its second circuit. Each person in this group will be allowed five days to view the prints, read the comments, write in the notebook again and then send it on its way to the next member in the group.

If you want to join the Salon Workshop drop me a note. Groups are being formed right along. Name and address of Director may be found in the Masthead at the beginning of the Digest.

Change of Address

C. "Jerry" Derbes, Director, has moved! Please send prints and address correspondence to the new address: 128 West Northside Drive, Jackson, Mississippi. —Ed.

A. LYNNE PASCHALL, Associate Editor

PETER, where are thou???

If Mr. Peter Zaleski, "Program Chairman", will tell the Director where he gets his mail and what he is program chairman of, we will be happy to do everything possible to get the club president, sundry officers, and membership off his aching back by including him in the earliest possible schedule for an Instruction Print Set. Peter's camera club has him so harassed that he forgot to tell us who his club is or what his mail address might be.

The underlying purpose of this activity is to make available to small clubs, and interested groups in isolated areas, the type and quality of pictorial photography normally seen on the walls of top-flight international salons.

Any club affiliated with P.S.A. and the Pictorial Division is eligible to receive one of these sets, and it will be routed to suit the club's schedule of meeting nights.

The box of prints will arrive prepaid and must be forwarded to the next club, prepaid and in time to suit that club's schedule.

A service charge of one dollar is made to keep the activity going, and it should be sent to the Director or to your area distributor at the time the schedule is requested.

To cut down transportation costs and give quicker service, six distributors have been appointed, each in a different section of the country, so write to the distributor assigned to your state. It is a bit complicated but we hope you can find him in the following tabulation.

EASTERN STATES: Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Virignia, West Virginia, North Carolina, and South Carolina.
Distributor: Mr. Harold Bouton Spriggs
Attorney at Law
Livingston Manor
New York, N. Y.

SOUTHERN STATES: Louisiana, Arkansas, Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, and Florida.
Distributor: Mr. A. J. Rybiski
1901 South St.
Lake Charles, Louisiana.

CENTRAL STATES: Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio.
Distributor: Mr. Lowell G. Hansen
Room 300, State Office Building
Madison 2, Wisconsin.

NORTH CENTRAL: North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Minnesota, and Iowa.
Distributor: Mr. E. Curtis Lugg
2007 E. Menlo Ave.
Sioux Falls, South Dakota.

SOUTHWEST STATES: Utah, Arizona, Colorado, and New Mexico.
Distributor: Mr. Ben Knutson
Rt. 2, Box 153
Alamosa, Colorado.

CALIFORNIA and Nevada: Mr. Cal R. Willet
P. O. Box 390
San Luis Obispo, Calif.

For any state not listed above write to the Director, Raymond S. Cannon, 908 E. Rio Grande, El Paso, Texas.

From the inquiries that we receive it is apparent that many of the small camera clubs are of the opinion that an exchange set of prints must be furnished before a club can receive one of the foreign exhibits. We wish to correct this erroneous impression immediately.

Texture — Rudy Esconcega

The foreign print shows are available to any camera club that is affiliated with the Photographic Society of America and is a member of its Pictorial Division. No exchange print sets are required, and the only cost to the camera club for this service is the express charge on the prints that come to you. This cost averages about $3.00 as you ship the prints to the next club on the schedule by collect express.

The small town camera club may schedule these print shows for a period of one week. Thus it is possible to arrange for a public exhibit of these outstanding pictures, in addition to the discussion and showing at the regular club meeting. We quote from a letter recently received from Mr. Thomas Uzzell, president of the Stillwater Camera Club of Stillwater, Oklahoma, to show what a club can really do.

"We have finished with the Francis Wu Exhibit and are awaiting shipping instructions. I want you to know that this print set has given many of us here great delight and much instruction. We had four public showings. One was at the camera club itself, another in the exhibition room of the library for the general public, a third on the college campus in the Chinese Lounge of the Student Union, and the fourth at a Sunday meeting in the Unitarian Church."

The Stillwater Camera Club is a small group for we know they meet at the home of one of their members. This small club has enjoyed a wonderful print exhibit, but in addition it has done a fine service to its community. In our opinion such public service is a very desirable club function. It pays big dividends in the long run.

There are open dates in our schedules, so if your club is interested in obtaining one of these outstanding foreign print shows just write to the Director of International Exhibits. Just tell us the date you have open and we will do the rest. Remember that these exhibits are arranged solely for your use and enjoyment.

ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS!

Of course, if you can't use $100 in cash, it's no use to read any further.

But, if you might like to take a few days of extra vacation after the convention, or if you could use a little extra toward some new equipment—this money could come in handy.

The Pictorial Division will present the first of three annual Exhibition Print Awards at the Convention Banquet in Los Angeles. Each of these awards will be $100 in cash, the gift of an anonymous donor, and will be presented to the exhibitor who has shown the largest number of new, different prints during the current salon year.

To qualify for this award, exhibitors should submit a complete record of each print, including where it has been accepted during the current salon year (July 1, 1952 to June 30, 1953). To qualify toward the 1953 Exhibition Print Award, prints cannot have been exhibited before July 1, 1952.

This summary must be presented by July 15, 1953 (which gives you only two weeks after the close of the exhibition year). One copy should be sent to Ray Miess, APSA, Chairman of the Pictorial Division, and one copy to C. A. Yarrington, Director of the Who's Who Listing.

This award was created to honor the exhibitor who is constantly striving to make new pictures rather than circulating a few pictures to all exhibitions. Remember the only prints eligible are those which have never been exhibited prior to the 1952-53 salon year. And the 1953 Exhibition Print Award will be made on the basis of the largest number of new and different prints exhibited.

If you think you are eligible for the 1953 Exhibition Print Award, start now to compile your list of acceptances. One of our exhibitors will receive $100 at the Annual Convention Banquet. Will it be you?

The DO'S and DONT'S of Entering Overseas Salons

By C. A. Yarrington

Experience of the past several years with correspondence connected with Who's Who in Pictorial Photography leads me to believe that there are many PSA members who would like to send prints to overseas salons, but who hesitate to do so because of lack of knowledge of the right procedures. Also, some who have tried it, have run into trouble, because of improper handling.

As a matter of fact, it is easier and lower in cost to enter overseas salons than it is to enter USA or Canadian salons, and while there is no one perfect way to do it, perhaps an explanation of just how the writer has handled his entries to overseas salons, to all parts of the world, and over the past several years, may help to solve some of these problems.

Please note particularly that these remarks do not apply to entries to Canadian salons. You should treat them exactly as you do entries to USA salons, except that prints must always be sent to Canada as Parcel Post—never by Railway Express or as Printed Matter, because of customs difficulties peculiar to Canada.

While there are a very few overseas salons that will accept prints mounted in the standard way, all of them prefer, and most of them demand that prints should be unmounted. This is because the size of the mounted print is too large to be handled easily in and out of the country in question, as you will see later.

Prints should not exceed 14 x 17 in size. Some entry blanks are indefinite in their statements as to size, and some of them ask for even smaller prints, but it is found that they will all accept 14 x 17 prints, and can handle them without difficulty. So let us standardize on sending 14 x 17 unmounted prints to all overseas salons.

It is essential that some form of mailing container be used that will not be easily bent or broken at the corners while in the mail. There are several ways to accomplish this, but the container that I use with success is based on the use of a piece of 3-ply veneer wood, 15″ x 18″ in size. Neither heavy cardboard nor composition board is satisfactory as they will bend or break. Then around the edges is nailed with brads a piece of wood, about 1/2″ wide by 1/4″ thick, which thus forms a pocket into which you can fit your 14x17 prints. Over this is placed a piece of corrugated board, and the whole is wrapped in heavy paper, and tied with string. Do not use paper tape as that would seal the package, and it must remain unsealed so as to permit postal inspection if necessary. Such a package with four 14 x 17 prints will weigh about 40 ounces.

Mailing your package

This is very important. All entries of unmounted prints to overseas salons should be mailed as "Printed Matter". Do not under any circumstances mail as Parcel Post. Most of the complaints that reach me from exhibitors and from overseas salons are caused by the attempt to use Parcel Post. If you have followed the above recommendations as to the package, it will now be about 15 x 18 x 1″ in size and will weigh about 40 ounces. Thus it will come within the maximum size and weight for Printed Matter, and it can be accepted by the P. O. as it will be unsealed. The rate is 1½¢ for each two ounces or fraction; the weight limit is 6 lbs 9 oz. except to South America where it is 11 lbs.; the size limitation is 36 inches in combined length, breadth and thickness. The rate and requirements for foreign printed matter mail is not the same as the domestic rates or limitations.

On Printed Matter mail, there is no need for any "Customs Declaration" tags or stickers; no statement of value is necessary or desired. Just mark the package;—"Photographs —Printed Matter".

Insurance

Printed Matter packages can be registered if you desire, but the registration fee is now 40 cents, and the writer's opinion is that it is better to omit the registration and carry your own insurance. The indemnity allowed for printed matter under the 40¢ fee is very low; $3.27 to some countries, slightly larger to others; and when you combine this with the great amount of red tape involved, the need for proving values, etc., it just doesn't seem worth while. Better to accept your loss and make some new prints. So far I have had no losses and have saved enough in fees to make a number of prints.

In England there seems to be very little trouble in handling prints through Parcel Post, but in practically all other countries the addressee runs into a great amount of difficulty with the customs. The Indian salons definitely will not accept Parcel Post shipments and they will be returned by the Post Office at your expense. In most South American countries, there is so much red tape, so much documentation required with Parcel Post, that the prints are delayed up to 6 weeks after arrival, with the possibility of customs fees being assessed.

Some salons in England still return your prints as Parcel Post, causing you to pay a 15¢ customs examination fee, as well as about doubling their cost of postage. It is suggested that when sending your entry blanks to English salons that you specifically ask them to return your prints as Printed Matter and not to use Parcel Post.

It is best to obtain an official entry blank and to use the address label included with it. However, if this is not available, entries can still be made, but the package should be marked "Photographs for Exhibition—No Commercial Value —To Be Returned to Sender". Write a letter giving the last of your entries, and enclose the usual entry fee.

Entry Fees

The entry fee, usually one dollar, can best be handled by just enclosing a dollar bill with your entry form, which should always be sent by separate mail, and should never be enclosed with your prints. Only in cases where the entry fee is some odd amount will be necessary to purchase an International Money Order. Most foreign salons really prefer the dollar bill which can always be sold on the black market at better than official rates, or it can be used as entry fees for USA salons.

Just a word to those in overseas countries who intend to send prints to USA salons. Always send your prints by Printed Matter mail. Do not use Parcel Post regardless of what the entry blank indicates. It is my observation that few

First Color Print Competition Results

The first Color Print competition of the Color Division of the PSA was handled by Dr. Francis Ashley Faught and the judging was done at a regular meeting of the Miniature Camera Club of Philadelphia. The prints were looked at first in a light box and shown to all of the members of the club. At this showing those which fell below the average in quality were eliminated. The Judges then retired to a room and carefully examined all of the prints, discussing same, and the final results were then determined.

The Judges were Fred Cole of the Miniature Camera Club of Philadelphia, Peter Cancelmo, President of the Philadelphia Photographic Society and Roger Earle of the advertising agency of Barrie & Homer who do a considerable amount of pictorial work in connection with their business.

The contest was one of the largest for several years, 51 color prints being submitted from 16 entrants, most of whom were members of the Color Division. The prints were made by a variety of processes, including Printon, Kodacolor, Dye Transfer; most of them, however, were hand-colored prints.

The winners were: First Prize—Still Life—Peggy Jordan, Salisbury, Md. Second Prize—Toe Dancer—Joe E. Kennedy, Tulsa, Oklahoma. Third Prize—Baby Sunflowers—Dr. Francis Ashley Faught Philadelphia, Penna. Honorable Mention—Study No. 6—Joe E. Kennedy, Tulsa, Oklahoma.

A silver medal is given for first prize and ribbons for the other awards.

In spite of the fact that the entry blanks specifically state that sufficient return postage in stamps is to be sent with the prints, in a number of instances the postage sent was not enough to return the prints in the same class of mail in which they had been received. All entrants for the next contest are reminded to please be careful about this.—W. H. Savary, Director

International Color Slide Competition (for Individuals)

The first two contests of the 1952-53 season have been concluded, and our sincere thanks goes to the hard working contest directors and their committees who have helped to start this season off by topping our previous entry record by some sixty percent. With our new two class system wherein the advanced workers compete in "A" class and the less experienced in "B" class, with duplicate awards for both groups, the greatly increased interest in this series of competitions is shown by the many new entrants who are submitting their slides for judging and criticism.

We are fortunate this season to have the cooperation of some of the most active color slide groups and outstanding judges in the sponsoring of our contests, and we hope that the PSA color slide worker as well as the non-PSA color slide worker will find these competitions of real interest and benefit. There is no charge for these contests for PSA members, and but $1.00 covers all contests for the non-PSA photographer.

One feature of these competitions of special value to the beginning photographer is that all entries receive written criticism. While the judges must of necessity be brief, they try to offer constructive suggestions to the entrant who may often be unable to obtain such help otherwise. Also, ten per cent of the entries receive Honorable Mention ribbons, and four award ribbons are offered as well as a Silver Medal for the top slide in each contest.

These competitions are conducted by and for color slide workers, and every attempt is made to keep costs to a minimum and to avoid making the handling of these contests a burden to those groups who so generously contribute their time and labor. To this end we ask that entrants read and follow the instructions on the entry forms. If there are any questions please contact the director of this series. We realize that any set of rules will not find complete acceptance with all color workers, and our present rules are ones evolved over a period of several years of developing these contests. As our competitions grow we expect to make changes, and any changes acceptable to our entrants will be incorporated as the series develops.

For the competitive minded color slide worker, or for the photographer seeking help and instruction, the Color Slide Competitions for Individuals offers keen competition whether advanced or a beginner, liberal awards as further incentive, and constructive criticism from a select group of outstanding color judges. For a few cents postage, try it!—C. B. M.

January Judges

Judging of the January PSA Color Slide Contest for Individuals, Class A, was conducted by the Venango CC, Oil City, Pa. Judges seated in front row are Paul Wolfe, APSA; O. E. Romig, FPSA, and Rev. H. Bielenberg, APSA. The working crew in back, George Steck, PSA; Victor Pardieck, D. W. Grant, PSA; Frank Bayless, PSA; A. S. Watson, Howard Schottenberg and William Troxell.

To Club Editors

We received a copy of the Minneapolis Color-Photo Club's new bulletin and found it very neat and carefully organized.

Two suggestions, however, we passed along to the able editor Albert Roser and these can apply to other club bulletins.

1. Show affiliation with PSA. The statement "Member of PSA", or "Affiliated with PSA" has prestige value that should not be overlooked.

PSA is a large and important organization. Many people may not have heard of a particular club but have heard of PSA and therefore will judge a club by the fact that it is a part of PSA.

There is another point, too. Affiliation with PSA is an indication of financial ability. Not all clubs are able to pay $10 dues a year. Those that can are more likely to be the more substantial clubs.

2. Show editor's address. A club's bulletin gets around quite a bit and from time to time a reader may want to write to the club. Usually in such cases the club stands to gain by the contact: a prospective member wants to know how to go about joining; some publication may want to quote an item from the bulletin; someone with an idea of value to the club wants to pass it on.

One way to handle the above is by a

"box" on an inside page wherein the bulletin name, club name, PSA affiliation, editor's name and address, and perhaps chief officer's names and addresses can all be grouped together.

Another way is to show PSA affiliation and editor's name and address just below the front page title of the bulletin.

Spots For Slides

Ever try to buy or cut out small round stickers for your slides? A nuisance. The solution is simple. Buy a paper punch. Dime store has them. Gummed flaps of envelopes will do nicely for white, colored envelopes or labels are a source of colored discs.

Hold the slide up the way it should be viewed. Attach a sticker to the lower left corner of the mount and you're set. Of course, the slide goes in the carrier with the spot on the upper right.—ALFRED C. SCHWARTZ

To the Members of Nature Division

Dear Members,

As a result of the recent election you have chosen me to act as your Chairman. Your confidence in me is regarded as an honor which I hope to justify.

I realize I shall be only one cog in the machinery of Nature Division. In order to function properly, and progress with the technical developments in photography, it will be necessary for all members to be a working part of Nature Division.

Every member is requested to help by sending in ideas and suggestions, articles on nature subjects, helpful hints on how to do it, etc.

The future shall be successful with all of us working toward the betterment of nature photography.

January Print Contest

The January 1953 Print Contest for Individuals of PSA's Nature Division was held at Brooks Memorial Art Gallery in Memphis, Tenn. on January 18. Memphis CC was the sponsor and Eugenia Buxton, APSA was contest chairman.

There were 56 prints entered by 17 contributors, including 5 from Canada, 1 from Singapore, 1 from South India and 10 from the U.S. Two non-members submitted prints and all but two entrants requested criticism.

The three judges, all PSAers, were Lloyd Abernathy, Fred Bauer, Jr. and Thomas F. Gaines. Dr. C. L. Baker, head of biology at Southwestern University served as technical advisor on nature subjects to the judges.

Tiger Lilies — Ed Matthews
Second Medal Winner

First medal was awarded Otto Litzel for "The Shell"; second to Ed Matthews for "Tiger Lilies"; and third to E. Dorothy Benson for "Through the Cloud-Flecked Blue". The judges broke a tie between Matthews and Benson, both prints scoring 27 points.

Honorable Mention ribbons were awarded to Jacques Legare (2), E. Dorothy Benson, Wan Tho Loke, Otto Litzel, Malcolm Thomas, Hermann Postlethwaite and Ben Hill-Tout.

Evergreens For Beauty

Long after the autumn colors have faded and the leaves have fallen, there is still beauty to be found in the woods for those who will seek it. The gracefulness, symmetry and decorative coloring of the evergreens provide many an interesting winter subject for the alert nature photographer. A topping of snow on the leafy branches, silhouettes of a lonely Pine, Fir or Spruce, close-ups of cones nested among the needles, or in early spring the gorgeous orange tinted pollen cones and the candle-like new growth on the tips of the branches are some of the many pictorial possibilities.

The term "evergreen" is somewhat of a misnomer, since the Larch (Tamarack) and Bald Cypress shed their leaves in winter. The other members of the tribe keep their needles (or scales) for two years or more, so that the tree is always in full leaf. Furthermore, Holly, Live Oak and some of the Magnolias, which are broad leaved trees, are green the year around.

Botanists call the evergreens "Gymnosperms," which is literally "naked seeds". This refers to the peculiar seed container, usually a cone, in which there is no ovary, which distinguishes them from the broad-leaved trees. In fact, the term "Conifer" is much more appropriate than "evergreen". This distinguishing characteristic marks what was once the dominant form of plant life, including some of the "living fossils" such as Gingko and the Cycads.

The features in which the conifers differ from the broad leaved trees become more evident as you study them. Probably the most outstanding characteristic is the form of the leaves. These vary all the way from needles a foot or more long on some of the Pines to the tiny flat scales of the Cedars. These needles or scales are arranged in multiple spirals on the twig, a feature peculiar to the conifers. Incidentally, these spirals make an interesting mathematical study, but that is another story.

Another characteristic is the symmetrical form of the tree, which is usually a perfect conical shape. This is due to the arrangement of the buds in the new growth of each spring. A central stem or "leader" grows straight upright, its base being surrounded by a ring of buds which develop into a whorl of branches.

Still another peculiarity is that the flowers of the conifers are wind pollinated. This involves two separate and distinct forms of flowers, each of a single sex, but borne on the same tree. In the Pines, for example, the staminate (male) flowers are borne in dense clusters at the base of the shoot of the new season's growth. They have no scent or nectar to attract insects, but bees visit them for their pollen. The pistillate, or female flower, which eventually develops into the cone, is borne singly at or near the end of the new shoot. The staminate flowers produce clouds of golden yellow pollen, but obviously, very little of it ever reaches its target. The candle-like new shoots of Pine, with their two types of flowers, nested in a cluster of green needles, provides an attractive color subject.

The miniature scales of the embryo cone open slightly to permit the entrance of the pollen, and then close tightly, not to open again until the seeds are mature. When the cone finally releases its seeds, which occurs only on a sunny day, the seeds will be seen to be equipped with a detachable wing, by means of which it is wind-borne far from the parent tree.

The characteristics of cones provide a convenient means for identifying the various conifers. The scales of Pine cones have thickened tips, sometimes ending in a sharp spine. The huge cones of Sugar Pine may grow 12 to 20 inches long, while those of Jack and Scrub Pine may only measure one and a half to two inches. Some Pine cones fall off at maturity, while those of other species disintegrate on the tree. The cones of Jack Pine hang on the tree for ten to twelve years.

Spruce bears thin scaled cones which hang below the branch, while Fir cones stand upright. The tiny cones of Hemlock hang from the tips of the twigs. Tamarack and Arbor Vitae have the smallest cones of all.

The leaves of the conifers also provide an interesting subject for study. For example, Pine needles are borne in bundles, wrapped around the base with a papery sheath. Red, Austrian, Scotch and Jack Pine have two needles in a bundle, Ponderosa and Pitch Pine either two or three, and White and Limber Pine clusters of five. The needles of Spruce are single, stiff, square and sharp pointed, and are attached to little pegs on the twig. Fir needles, also single, are flat, fat and flexible, growing on a smooth twig. Tamarack needles are less than an inch long, and are borne in clusters of 20 or more, radiating from the tip of a little wooden knob on the twig. In the fall they turn yellow and fall off. Small, overlapping scales characterise the Cedars.

The Firs and Spruces are the typical Christmas trees. As a group, they are distinguished by having single needles, not in bundles, not overlapping and not deciduous.

In the tedious weeks of late winter, it often seems as if the Spring, with its opening buds and dainty flowers, would never come. While you are waiting, dust off your camera and take a trip to the woods, and see if you cannot find BEAUTY IN EVERGREENS.—WILLARD H. FARR.

He Did Too!

When a man imparts his knowledge to others he should get some credit for it. Dr. Francis A. Faught, of Overbrook, Philadelphia, wrote some darkroom tips for us. Some were used in November, with a byline. Several were left over, and doggoned if we didn't forget to splice his name on when we used them in January and February. There will be some more coming up soon and they will carry the proper credit.

PHOTO-JOURNALISM

WILLIAM A. PRICE

78 Elbert St., Ramsey, N. J.

Dear Don:

In reply to a recent letter from a prospective member of P-J, I gave a condensed outline that I suddenly feel might be of interest to the PSA membership at large, therefore I quote: The Photo Journalism Division of PSA is trying to accent the value of story telling and news in pictures as well as new methods and trends, public demand, etc. Although these points are well recognized by press photographers, we believe that the general level of all photographers, pictorialists and others, can benefit by applying more of the photo-journalism theme to their work.

Members of the Photo Journalism Division receive at no cost an annual subscription to the National Press Photographer, a monthly publication of the National Press Photographers Association which carries a normal subscription rate of $3.50 per year. In addition, each member receives each year a book entitled "News Pictures of the Year" which contains the outstanding photographs from the annual competition and exhibition jointly sponsored by Encyclopaedia Britannica Book of the year and the University of Missouri School of Journalism. To other than P-J members this book costs $1.00.

The Photo Journalism program at the national convention in New York last August has received considerable praise, as you know from references in the Journal. However, in order to bring such programs within the reach of more people throughout the country, arrangements are now in process to hold regional meetings at various times at which the best professional talent will perform, lecture and instruct. These meetings will include audience participation, question and answer periods, etc., and will also provide a good means for us to get acquainted with a lot of nice people. Such meetings, once we get them started, should prove to be the highlight of all Photo Journalism activities.

Unquote. Where in the world is there such a bargain as a membership in the Photo Journalism Division?

Don't Miss "Tri-opticon" Show

In a number of cities in U.S.A., the British-produced stereo show, advertised as "Tri-opticon 3-Dimension", is being booked.

It is projected under the regular polaroid system; the management furnishes glasses, but you can use your own. It is an interesting variety show—ballet, zoo, comedy, travel and one section consists of animation excellently done, with appropriate music. It is reported that another production called "The Runaway Train" by the same producer is on the way.

Depth of Field and Comfortable Viewing

Wm. C. Millar gives us the following table of figures which we should keep in mind when we are shooting stereo. When the nearest object and the most distant object in the picture are extremely far apart our eyes are uncomfortably taxed. Mr. Millar advises that the allowable distances would vary somewhat depending on the focal length of the camera lens but that these figures should serve as a rough guide for any stereo camera:

Nearest Object	(In feet)	MostDistant Object
5		10
6		14
7		20

Millar Reviews Dewhurst and Millet

In the Bolex Reporter Christmas 1952 Issue, "Come into the Two-eyed World with Stereo Movies" second of a series of articles by Mr. H. Dewhurst, A.R.C.S., D.I.C., the author discusses from a theoretical viewpoint the various basic methods of stereo movie projection, where both images are viewed simultaneously, including the integral method.

As Mr. Dewhurst believes it is necessary to maintain the convergence-accommodation ratio of real life for satisfactory stereo viewing he is dissatisfied with parallel projection because it does not meet this requirement. He rejects one alternative, the reduced camera interocular method, for the same reason most modern amateurs reject it—unnatural viewing due to lack of proper depth. Another method, the convergent camera-projector system does meet with his complete approval, at least on a theoretical basis. He does not claim that this method is practical, which indeed it is not, but does propose a modification which partially fulfills the theory. Although I am rather dubious about the convergence- accommodation ratio having anything to do with stereo viewing and I do not believe even with the modification that the idea is practical, at least on an amateur basis, I still think the idea ingenious and interesting enough to describe in some detail.

The camera must have a variable convergent lens axis. This is accomplished by either using two cameras or by beam splitting methods. It is always converged on the nearest plane in the photograph. Distortions introduced through this method are nullified by using lenses of the same focal length in the projector as are used in the camera. These must be converged in the same degree as the camera lens for each particular scene. It is also necessary that the screen be placed at the same distance from the projector as the nearest plane was from the camera. If it is desired to use longer focal length lenses in the projector it is necessary that the screen distance be increased in the same proportion also the distance between the lenses in order to maintain the same angle. If twice the focal length is used, the screen distance is doubled and the inter-lens spacing doubled. Under these conditions, if the observer stands at the projector, convergence and accommodation for the nearest plane will duplicate those of real life. Further planes will not duplicate this condition but will be viewable. Mr. Dewhurst recognizes the difficulty involved in moving the screen to keep in step with the nearest plane and proposes instead to keep the screen at a fixed distance and limit the convergence for closeups, thus partially fulfilling his theory. He says nothing about how the variable projector convergence is to be managed nor where he seats his audience.

Integral methods are then briefly discussed and two diagrams given to illustrate the optics involved.

In the next issue Mr. Dewhurst promises to discuss practical projection systems. Moviemakers or potential moviemakers interested only in the practical side should make arrangements to get a copy of this issue.

In the present issue we also have Bolex's promised rebuttal of Mr. Dewhurst's convergence-accommodation theory, written by Mr. Eugene Millet, Development Dept., Paillard, S.A., Yverdon and transcribed by Mr. Allen R. Greenleaf A.R.P.S., member Optical Society of America.

The conditions for natural vision set forth are as follows: (1) The camera base must be equal to the interocular, (2) The observer must be situated on the axis of projection (or as close as possible) and that he must be seated at the proper distance from the screen. This distance is obtained by multiplying the distance from the screen to the projector by the focal length of the camera and dividing the result by the focal length of the projection lens.

Difficulties in viewing are ascribed to excessive depth of stereo field. In other words the nearest and most distant portion of each scene must lie within definite limits to confine the convergence range to a comfortable degree. A chart accompanies the article from which can be obtained the stereo field suitable for various distances—W. C. Millar

Chromatic Anaglyphs — for Projection

An interesting collectors item is the set of anaglyphs, 2x2 slides for ordinary projector and screen, supplied by Horner-Cooley Productions, 6356 Hollywood Blvd., Hollywood, Calif. They supply also the proper viewing glasses—red and blue-green. If you write them ask for catalogue which lists many items of interest to the stereographer—unusual stereograms, trick shots, landscapes from wide interocular, also the annual award winning "stereoscars".

Raise Screen and Tip It

Harry B. Fisher sends in this "helpful hint". He raises both projector and screen above audience heads, thus leaving that good space, front and center for seats. He built an extension on the bar that supports the hook of the (Radiant) screen. The top side of the screen then is brought forward and tipped toward the audience.

That Canadian 15c

Several PSA members have been raising the roof about the 15-cent charge made by the Post Office on prints returned from Canada. Unfortunately, most of them have wondered why the Canadians always short-change the stamps by exactly fifteen cents. Now the truth is out.

C. C. Ruchhoft, Chairman of the PSA Exhibitions Committee explains that this is a service charge assessed by the Post Office against imported parcels, whether duty is collected or not. It is a handling fee that applies to all incoming parcels, so you'll just have to pay it on all foreign exhibition prints returned to you and charge it off to experience.

SALON SECRETARIES: The Journal will be pleased to receive cuts used in printing your catalog if you have no further use for them. Our only requirement is that they be from 110 to 133 screen copper plates. At the same time you ship them send two copies of the catalog and, if possible, a set of the original engraver's proofs. (Since the metals program requires copper plates be destroyed within a year unless needed further, you can pass on to us this obligation.) Ship to the Journal Editorial Office, 28 Leonard St., Stamford, Conn.

SALON CHAIRMAN: Can you spare a little space on your entry blank to plug PSA? Every channel that can be utilized to help PSA grow will enlarge the Society and thus enlarge the services it can render to you and to photography. The thousands of blanks you mail out should carry the message of PSA membership. A single line could read "Join PSA, it helps you". Another could read "PSA National Convention, Los Angeles, August 3-8, 1953".

MOTION PICTURES

From the record it looks as if Marvin Camras of Armour Institute was the originator of the idea of marrying tape recording and film. A report in the SMPTE Journal several years ago describes an experimental 16mm projector with tape attachment.

While the mechanical and electrical problems were not too easy to solve, the real hold-up in bringing magnetic 16 to reality was the development of a method and machinery for applying the magnetic stripping to the tape. Regular tape is coated in wide sheets and then slit to width. If the edges are uneven they can be trimmed away and and disposed of as waste. But it is slightly difficult to trim the edge off a poor coating that is only 100 mils wide. Especially when beyond the edge lies two regions of needed film.

Many laboratories worked on this problem, the first to report success being that of Reeves Soundcraft, only a few blocks away from the Journal office. Reeves had been supplying coated film, both 16mm and 35mm to the Hollywood studios for magnetic recording of sound tracks. In this case the coating ran the full width of the film, because they record up to six tracks in the area between the sprocket holes of 35mm film. (Perforated film is used to ensure synchronization between interlocked cameras and recorders.)

Reeves was ready with the striping, then RCA announced a projector, followed quickly by Bell and Howell. Since the initial rush, Ampro, Victor and others have announced 16mm magnetic projectors, and Movie-Mite an 8mm.

Bell and Howell, then Eastman Kodak announced striping services, so the amateur has three from which to choose.

Just in case you don't know, the projector is used as a recorder and playback, with input from microphone, record player, or both. The mechanics have been adequately covered in a wide series of engineering and popular writings so we're going to concern ourselves in this series solely with the application.

Manufacturers can skip this next section, if they don't like to shudder, because we will frankly deal with some shortcomings, a few of which exist only in advertising claims, and none of which are serious to anyone who approaches recording seriously.

Good recording is not easy.

Every prior attempt at amateur recording has completely ignored every aspect but the purely engineering. Recording is a skill. It is not and never will be a push-button operation. It takes a mixture of know-how and common sense. It is no more difficult than making a good picture, still or movie. Radio stations found out long ago that a good engineer, a slip-stick artist, did not make the best mixer operator. NBC tried it once and soon changed back to the boys who might be a little short on theory but could mix a good show on the air. Hollywood went through the same phase in the early days of sound.

It is quite possible for a person who doesn't know a sound mixer from a kitchen mixer to do a superb recording job with a push-button outfit. It is equally possible for a guy who can build one to turn out the sourest recording job you ever heard.

Magnetic 16 offers wonderful possibilities for industrial and educational uses. Where a language barrier exists it is a natural since the original track can quickly be turned into a different language. Just bear in mind that it requires a magnetic projector at the other end to play the film.

The boys who wrote the advertising that suggested making dupes of your prized films so you could add sound just didn't understand either the amateur's pocketbook or eyesight. It's rather silly to require a good print to be duped to single-sprocket film to add the sound. Fortunately, the need for such treatment is now obviated by the development of suitable recording and playback means for 25 mil track. (Mil is one one-thousandth of an inch, .001.)

When this suggestion was originally made there was no practical method of reproducing the sound except from the normal sound-track area of single-sprocket film. Recent developments have changed this picture as you will see.

There is a logical excuse for this type of thinking on the manufacturer's part. His market is of two types, the industrial user, where sales are quick and in some quantity, with fewer selling problems than in the thinly scattered amateur market; and the amateur market, where intensive and expensive advertising must be used to prepare the market and new developments usually catch on slowly. For the industrial user, the problem of dupes is no problem. He uses them all the time, saving the original as a master from which the prints are made for use, or, as in most cases where a reasonable quantity of prints are required, making a master dupe with light and filter corrections from which second-generation release prints are made.

Most amateurs use only their originals and the loss in color quality is an important consideration to them. The professional user prepares for printing losses by shooting on a soft gradation film which helps to compensate . . . the contrast that builds up in the printing operation lifting the final print to a contrast approaching original film quality. The soft gradation film, incidentally, does not screen at all well, it lacks the contrast we are used to in originals.

For the industrial user, therefore the requirement that all films be duped to single-sprocket film was not the hardship that it presented to the average amateur with a large library of family and travel films.

Another problem was in the matter of film speed. For years we have been shooting at 16 frames per second. Sound speed is 24. Thus all 16mm sound projectors were built to operate at a governed speed of 24. It was assumed that any recordings slower than 24 fps. would be unsuitable. This is a mental attitude we are all guilty of at one time or other. As reason began to percolate and thinking shifted from frames per second to inches per second it was realized that 24 fps. was 7.2 inches per second. Since 7.5 inches per second is considered suitable for professional recording of speech and is twice as fast as the amateur tape recorders on which music lovers happily record music from FM, 3.75 inches, perhaps a slower speed might be commercially useful. 16 fps. is 4.8 inches per second, nearly 50% faster than amateur tape. It might be possible to record speech on 16 at 16 fps! It was.

Two experiences of mine are illuminating. The first time I heard magnetic 16 was at a demonstration for some very critical engineers. A 35mm high-quality test film had been dubbed (sound jargon for copying) onto 16 magnetic. A high-quality 16mm optical sound track was also available. At 24 fps. the 16 magnetic track was almost as good as the 35mm optical track. When the high-quality 16mm optical track was played, it sounded something like Granpa's old phonygraft. It had always sounded beautiful before, but by comparison with the magnetic recording it just didn't stack up. Data: a studio channel was used for reproducing the 35mm test film, a very high quality channel. A commercial 16mm projector was used for recording and playing the 16mm magnetic and for reproducing the 16mm optical tracks. It was not feasible to patch the 35mm channel through the 16mm projector which would have been 100% fair and might have revealed that the 16mm magnetic was superior to the 35mm optical!

Several weeks later I had occasion to try a 16mm magnetic conversion unit. We recorded several voices, my own included, in an office with hard walls, certainly not an ideal recording set-up. At 24 fps. the recording was good. Then I asked for a demonstration at 16 fps. It was more than passable. We didn't try music recording at 16 fps. as no facilities were immediately available. My impression of the voice recordings was that if we had, it would be at least as good as regular 3.75 tape.

Later I heard some transcriptions on 16 magnetic (24 fps) and I'll swear nothing ever came out of your radio that was as good, unless you have FM.

So one of the problems was solved. Speed. A bigger problem remained that took a lot of engineering to solve.

Have you ever wound one of your older films that was perhaps dried out and wobbled back and forth as you rewound it? Perhaps it even piled up on the reel in octagonal or similar polygonic form if you didn't wind it tight. That tendency of film to shrink more at the edges, and particularly around perforations gives trouble even with 35mm film. With magnetic it presented a real problem. Why? Because the only place to put the track on silent, double-sprocket films was outside one row of sprockets holes. That narrow edge, only 25 mils wide was subject to terrific strains and distortions from the adjacent perforations. If we simply shifted the head out to the edge, speech would sound as if you were continously flipping your lips with all ten fingers while you were talking! (Try it and see what you sound like.)

The engineering involved a design that made the film run flat across the sound head, stressing it slightly to overcome any distortions from the perforation strains. That it was successful is seen in the advent of a practical 8mm magnetic projector.

Maybe the cracks we made about out manufacturers and their engineers way up front are not really deserved, because when they met the problem in the form of sales resistance or smart competition, they faced it and solved it. Perhaps their only sin was in rushing headlong into a market in an attempt to be first.

Well, it looks like we've said enough this time. There is lots more to this matter of 16mm magnetic sound without getting technical. In this installment we've just laid out some of the problems and tried to be a bit rational about them. Next month we'll tackle some problems of home recordings and try to solve them.—THE OLD TIMER.

MPD Town Meeting

By the time this issue reaches you the Town Meeting of the Motion Picture Division in Hollywood on March 14 and 15 will be history. If you missed it, you may still haave a chance to attend by proxy. The Orange County Cinema Club is making a film record to be circulated so other clubs and PSA groups can see what a Town Meeting is like.

Although we'll probably have a story covering the event in the next couple of issues, the film will give a more realistic view of the life and color of this type of event.

Last look we had at the schedule was good. Naturally, the interest has been concentrated on movies. Glamorous models will be available for filming, there will be talks on demonstrations of movie techniques, films will be screened and professionals will advise how to get the most out of your movies.

Washington (from page 30)

visitors get around town. Besides the thousands of automobiles, taxis, and buses, Washington still has trolley cars! Of particular interest to many visitors are the bicycles, including tandems, that can be rented not far from the Jefferson Memorial. A 'bicycle built for two' romance might well be woven through your Washington film if you have a young couple available. Pedal boats may be rented for plying the waters of the Tidal Basin, not only for inclusion in scenes in your film, but as a floating camera 'dolly' for getting some low angle shots of the Jefferson Memorial, Washington Monument, and cherry trees from the water.

Spring in Washington is a great time for visits by bus load after bus load of high school seniors from all over the east. Perhaps your film can show how these young Americans learn a great deal about America's heritage as they visit some of its many shrines. Here, too, is a natural means of leading your film out of Washington itself as it follows these young people from the Lincoln Memorial across the Potomac River bridge and on to Arlington National Cemetery where they visit the Unknown Soldier's Tomb, the Arlington Amphitheatre, the Custis-Lee Mansion, the Mast of the Maine, etc. Follow them too as they travel twenty miles south to the Mt. Vernon estate, home, and tomb, of George Washington, the 'Father' of it all.

One could go on and on, but surely we realize by now that not only does a film of Washington, D. C., and vicinity belong in every movie maker's library, but that there are as many possible ways to make a film on Washington as there are movie makers! So, why not find some time for Spring in Washington, and then plan your film of America's capital?

if any of those in charge of designing the entry blank, know anything at all about foreign postal rules, and they merely copy, year after year, the mistakes made by their predecessors in the original entry form. Send your prints to our salons as Printed Matter. It is lower in cost to you, causes you less trouble as there is no customs declaration to fill out, and it is less trouble for us to receive the package in this country, and also less costly as there is no customs examination fee to be paid here.

The Do's

DO use unmounted prints
DO make size 14x17 or less
DO stiffen package with wood veneer
DO wrap package in paper.
DO tie with string
DO mail as Printed Matter.
DO send $1 bill as entry fee.

The Dont's

DONT MAKE larger than 14x17
DONT seal package
DONT use paper tape in place of string.
DONT use Parcel Post
DONT use P.O. Money Order

TD Print Show

The 35-print Traveling Show of the PSA Technical Division is now open for bookings. Prints were selected from the 1952 PSA exhibit.

Several outstanding astronomical pictures are included, along with representative samples of industrial, medical, biological and armament pictures.

Information about the show is available from Earl R. Clark, 184 Malden Street, Rochester, 13, N. Y.

All PSA Town Meeting At Sturbridge, Mass., March 21

P-J Division Sponsors All-Day Meeting, Clinics, Contest

Plans for the first all-PSA Town Meeting, sponsored by the Photo-Journalism Division have been announced by a committee headed by David Eisendrath Jr., Division Chairman and including Maurice Frank, Dick Oliver, Bob Garland and Ray LeBlanc. Meeting is to be held in Sturbridge, Mass. convenient by highway or bus transportation to all of New England and the metropolitan New York area, on March 21. Sessions and meals will be in Lincoln House (picture on page 41) at the entrance to Old Sturbridge Village.

A print contest and print clinic will be part of the day's doings, the print contest being judged for effectiveness from a photo-journalistic standpoint. There is no restriction on picture size, subject classification or application, except that the picture must have a journalistic slant (i.e., either magazine or newspaper) and all who attend may submit three pictures, either B&W or color in the contest. Up to three pictures each may also be submitted for the print clinic, the critic's panel consisting of John Doscher, Lee Ellis, Ray LeBlanc, Bob Garland and Dave Eisendrath. Prizes will be awarded in the contest and winning prints will be reproduced in the May or June PSA Journal. No prizes in the clinics.

Featured speakers will include such nationally known personages as David Eisendrath, whose subject will be "Basic Shots In Color"; Bob Garland, who will demonstrate many applications of flash photography, with single and multiple bulb hook-ups. Shots made during the demonstration on cameras fitted with Polaroid-Land backs will be projected immediately for discussion. L. Whitney Standish, FPSA will talk on "Landscape Photography In B&W and Color" illustrating the talk with his own outstanding pictures.

Bill Price has had wide experience in travel photography and will talk on "Using Photo-Journalism Techniques in Making Travel Pictures." Among the slides he will show is one of a volcano in eruption. Clinton Cram of the Providence Journal will talk on "The Use of the Small Camera in Press Work" pointing out how many press pictures may be taken by amateurs on the scene if they know how to tackle the subject.

Milton Schwartz, "Mr. Strobe" to many New York photographers, will give a short general talk on electronic flash and will then lead a question-and-answer period on speedlamp problems. Norris Harkness, PSA President, will be the dinner speaker and will discuss PSA plans and current problems.

The program for the day will start at 10:30 Saturday morning with the meeting in Lincoln House. At 1 P.M. there will be a buffet luncheon. Following the afternoon program there will be a roast beef dinner, all meals in the same building as the meetings.

For those who wish to stay over on Sunday, a special program has been developed, built around a tour of picturesque Old Sturbridge Village conducted by Tom Reed of Providence. The Village will be especially opened for us and our cameras. Models in colonial costume will pose in the old homes and shops. Of particular interest are the blacksmith shop, the pottery shop and the old stores. A late season snowstorm will enhance the picture opportunities outdoors. Accommodations in the Publick House or in nearby motor lodge and tourist homes are available. Single rooms with bath range from $5 to $7, doubles $8 to $12. Meals on Saturday are included in the advance registration fee of $6.75. A few last-minute registrations can be accepted the day of the meeting at $7.75. Advance registrations must be mailed to Maurice Frank, P. O. Box 930, Providence, R. I. not later than Saturday, March 14. Save a dollar and register in advance.

A special tour will be arranged for "camera widows" on Saturday, through Sturbridge Village and the craft and antique shops in the vicinity. The Sunday tour will be for widows and photographers combined!

Membership in P-J Division, or even in PSA is not necessary for this Town Meeting. You may bring friends and show them what PSA membership means. If you do not have a car, there are direct busses from Springfield, Boston, Providence and intermediate points.

REMARKS

We would like to offer a number of Trophies for 1953 but the Budget won't stand it. If any of you folks would like to put up a Trophy or Prize for any part of the Picture of the Month, Annual or Monthly, any Group, for First, Second or Third, your Chairman would be glad to hear from you.

MEMBERSHIP DIRECTORY

As of JANUARY 1, 1953

(Issued March, 1953)

THE PHOTOGRAPHIC SOCIETY OF AMERICA, INC.
PHILADELPHIA, PENNSYLVANIA

DIRECTORY OF MEMBERSHIP

This list of members was prepared by PSA Headquarters as of January 1, 1953. Names and addresses are followed by a code indicating LIFE and CORNERSTONE MEMBERS, Divisional affiliation and month and year of joining PSA. When no Division letters appear, it means that Headquarters has no record of affiliation with a Division. A geographical index will be found at the back.

Every effort has been made to insure the accuracy of the listings, but your cooperation in checking your own name, address, and Division is earnestly requested. Errors can be corrected only with your help. Communications should be addressed to PSA Headquarters, 2005 Walnut Street, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania.

The code used is as follows:

†—Cornerstone Member
††—Life Member
C—Color Division
M—Motion Picture Division
N—Nature Division
J—Photo-Journalism Division
P—Pictorial Division
S—Stereo Division
T—Technical Division

Because of space limitations, all miscellaneous memberships, subscriptions, etc., have been omitted.

Extra copies of this Directory Section, separately stapled, may be purchased by members only from PSA Headquarters, 2005 Walnut St., Philadelphia 3, Penna., at $1.00 payable with order.

Use of this Directory for sales solicitation is made without the approval or sanction either of PSA or of PSA JOURNAL. PSA Members are reminded that it is impossible to provide the convenience of a membership list without risking its use for sales or other commercial purposes. Such use constitutes no endorsement by PSA or by PSA JOURNAL of products or services thereby offered.

PSA CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS OF DECEMBER 1946

(Italics, when used other than in headings, indicate amendments passed during the past two years)

Article I
PURPOSES

This Society shall be a medium for cooperative action in promoting the arts and sciences of photography and for furthering public education therein.

Article II
MEMBERSHIP

Section 1. General. This Society shall be a membership organization, enrolling individuals, organizations and business firms as members. Individuals may be enrolled as (a) Active Members, (b) Honorary Members, (c) Cornerstone Life Members, (d) Life Members, or (e) Contributing Members. Organizations may be enrolled as Organizational Members. Business firms may be enrolled as Industrial Members.

Section 2. Charter Members. Individuals and camera clubs so designated in the Constitution and By-Laws of this Society adopted March 13, 1935.

Section 3. Active Members. Individuals who shall have met requirements and paid dues prescribed by the Board of Directors.

Section 4. Honorary Members. Individuals who, having rendered distinguished service to this Society, or to photography, or who for other adequate and stated reasons shall have been elected Honorary Members by a three-fourths (¾) vote of the Board of Directors. Upon conclusion of service in office, without impeachment, each President of this Society automatically shall become an Honorary Member.

Section 5. Cornerstone Life Members. Individuals who have met requirements and, in lieu of dues, shall have paid a single Cornerstone Life Membership fee of two hundred ($200.00) dollars or more. The number of Cornerstone Life Members shall be limited to two hundred and fifty (250).

Section 6. Life Members. Individuals who shall have met requirements and, in lieu of dues, shall have paid a single life membership fee as prescribed by the Board of Directors.

Section 7. Contributing Members. Individuals, business firms, or organizations contributing to the financial support of this Society under conditions prescribed by the Board of Directors.

Section 8. Industrial Members. Business firms engaged in the photographic industry, or related industries, which shall have met requirements and paid dues prescribed by the Board of Directors. This provision shall not be interpreted as prohibiting the Board of Directors from establishing such other relationships with business firms or organizations as may benefit this Society.

Section 9. Organizational Members. Organizations such as, but not limited to, camera clubs, camera club councils, libraries, educational institutions, scientific societies, and cultural groups, having activities and interests consonant with those of this Society and which shall have met requirements and paid dues prescribed by the Board of Directors.

Article III
INITIATION FEES AND DUES

Section 1. General. Initiation fees and membership dues shall be fixed by the Board of Directors.

Section 2. Payment of Annual Dues. Dues shall become payable upon application for membership and thereafter annually in advance upon the anniversary date of admission to membership. Members whose dues shall remain unpaid thirty (30) days after the anniversary of their admission to membership in this Society shall be considered as not in good standing.

Section 3. Arrears. The Board of Directors shall prescribe rules for removing from the membership those whose dues remain upaid.

Section 4. Exceptions. No payment of initiation fees or dues shall be required of Honorary Members or Honorary Fellows of this Society.

Section 5. Initiation and Life Membership Fees. Initiation fees from whatever source and single payments of fees by Life Members shall be added to the reserve funds of this Society.

Article IV
DUTIES AND PRIVILEGES OF MEMBERS

Section 1. Duties. Members shall abide by this Constitution and these By-Laws and shall keep this Society informed of their correct mail addresses.

Section 2. Privileges.

(a) Active, Contributing, Cornerstone Life and Life Members shall enjoy all rights and privileges customarily appertaining to such memberships, or otherwise as established by the Board of Directors.
(b) Associates, Fellows, Honorary Fellows, and Honorary Members shall enjoy the basic status of Active Members, with additional rights and privileges established by tradition or granted by the Board of Directors.
(c) Each Industrial and Organizational Member shall designate as official representative an individual who shall enjoy the basic status, rights, and privileges of Active Member, but shall not hold office.

Section 3. Identification. For so long as they shall maintain membership in this Society, members shall be entitled appropriately to display the official insignia of the Society and to append to their names an indication of their status in this Society as prescribed by the Board of Directors.

Section 4. Relinquishment of Claims. All right, title, and interest, whether legal or equitable, of a member in and to the property of this Society shall cease upon termination of membership for any reason.

Article V
MEMBERSHIP MEETINGS

Section 1. Transaction of Business. The official business of this Society may be transacted by mail.

Section 2. Annual Meeting. An Annual Meeting of the membership shall be held each year at a date and place designated by the Board of Directors.

Section 3. Special Meetings. Special Meetings of the membership may be held at the call of and at dates and places designated by the Board of Directors.

OFFICERS AND OFFICIALS

Section 1. General. This Society and its Districts, Divisions, Sections, Chapters, and other units shall select all officers by popular vote for one (1) term of two (2) years. All officers shall continue in office until their successors qualify. The President and the Executive Vice President shall not be eligible to serve more than two (2) terms consecutively in the same office.

Section 2. National Officers. The national officers of this Society shall be a President, Executive Vice President, Convention Vice President, Editorial Vice President, Secretary, and Treasurer, all of whom shall be elected by the membership. Each retiring President shall serve in an advisory capacity as Past President for the term of his immediate successor.

Section 3. Officials. District Representatives, who shall be elected in accordance with the provisions of this Constitution and these By-Laws; Honorary Representatives, who shall be appointed annually by the President with the approval of the Board of Directors; and an Executive Secretary and such other appointees as the President and Board of Directors may deem necessary, shall have the status of officials of the Society.

Section 4. Remuneration. No elective officer of this Society shall receive cash remuneration for serving in office. Remuneration and terms of office of appointees shall be fixed by the President with the approval of the Board of Directors. At the discretion of the Board, any national officer may be granted an allowance to meet travel and incidental expenses incurred while conducting the official business of this Society.

Section 5. Conduct in Office. Officers and officials of this Society shall conduct themselves and direct the affairs of office in manner consonant with policy and procedure established by the Board of Directors, and shall perform the duties specified in this Constitution and these By-Laws.

Section 6. Duties of Officers. The President shall promote the good and welfare of this Society, perform all duties customarily appertaining to the office, preside at all meetings of this Society, National Council, and Board of Directors; and otherwise shall serve as required by the Board of Directors, by the exigencies of office, and by this Constitution and these By-Laws.

The Vice Presidents shall perform such duties as may be delegated by the President or required by the Board of Directors.

The Secretary shall perform duties required by the laws of the state in which this Society is incorporated; shall supervise the keeping in bound form of the official minutes of the National Council and Board of Directors; sign checks on behalf of this Society, when required; and shall perform other duties delegated by the President, required by the Board of Directors, and specified in this Constitution and these By-Laws.

The Treasurer shall perform duties required by the laws of the state in which this Society is incorporated; sign checks on behalf of this Society, when required; supervise the preparation of the budget; prepare the annual financial report for publication in the official journal within six months after the close of the fiscal year; supervise the annual inventory of the property and possessions of this Society; render to the Board of Directors a monthly statement of income and expenditures, with balance sheet; and perform other duties delegated by the President, required by the Board of Directors, and specified in this Constitution and these By-Laws.

Section 7. Duties of Officials. The Executive Secretary and other appointees of the Society shall perform such duties as may be delegated by the President or prescribed by the Board of Directors. The District Representatives faithfully shall represent their respective Districts, ascertain and advise the President, National Council, and Board of Directors as to the desires and recommendations of members resident within their respective Districts, perform duties required by the President or prescribed by the Board of Directors, and otherwise promote the growth, welfare, and interests of the Society. The Honorary Representatives shall perform such duties as may be prescribed by this Constitution and these By-Laws or required by the President and Board of Directors.

Section 8. Scope of Authority. No officer, official member, or employee of this Society shall commit this Society as a whole to any policy, agreement, responsibility, project, undertaking, or unauthorized expense without the approval of the Board of Directors.

Section 9. Delegation of Authority. With the approval of the Board of Directors, elective officers may delegate any of the duties of office to responsible officers, officials, members, or employees of this Society.

Section 10. Reports of Officers. All officers shall make written reports of the activities of office annually, or otherwise as required, to the Board of Directors.

Section 11. Use of Corporate Seal. The corporate seal of this Society shall be used only by a national officer with the specific authority of the Board of Directors.

Section 12. Vacancies in Office. Any office in this Society other than that of President, or in its Divisions, Districts, Sections, Chapters, or other units, or an official position, which for any reason shall become vacant, may be filled for the unexpired term by appointment by the President with the approval of the Board of Directors. Temporary vacancies in any office except that of the President may be filled by the President with the approval of the Board. Any vacancy occurring for any reason in the office of President shall be filled for the unexpired term in proper succession by the Executive Vice President.

Article VII

ELECTION OF OFFICERS AND REPRESENTATIVES

Section 1. General. The Board of Directors shall prescribe rules and regulations governing national elections of this Society in accordance with democratic principles, fix the date thereof, appoint the Nominating Committees provided herein, and, in case of contests or protests, render final decisions.

Section 2. Year of Election. To assure continuity in operations the national officers of this Society and the members of the Board of Directors shall be elected each odd year. The Divisional officers and Executive Committees and the District Representatives shall be elected each even year.

Section 3. Nominating Committee. A Nominating Committee of five (5) members shall be created in each even year to serve until the anniversary date of the succeeding even year. The Nominating Committee shall be appointed by the Board of Directors, but shall elect its own chairman. Not more than two (2) members of the Nominating Committee shall be elective members of the Board of Directors.

Section 4. Procedure. At least five (5) months prior to the official election date, the Nominating Committee shall have prepared an official slate of one or more candidates in good standing for each national, sectional or district office. The Nominating Committee shall have obtained acceptance of candidacy, and of office if elected, from each candidate, and shall certify the slate of candidates to the Secretary who shall cause such slate of candidates to be published in the official journal of this Society at least three (3) months before the election.

Section 5. Petition Nominations. Any twenty-five (25) or more members in good standing of this Society may submit to Headquarters a written petition nominating any eligible member for any national elective office. Any twenty-five (25) or more members in good standing of this Society, resident in one of the four geographical sections described in Article IX, Section 2-e of these By-Laws, may submit to Headquarters a written petition nominating any eligible person resident in that geographical section for that section's representative on the Board of Directors. Any ten (10) or more members in good standing of this Society resident in a District may submit to Headquarters a written petition nominating any eligible person resident in that District for the office of that District's represetative to the National Council. All petitions, to be valid, must be accompanied by a statement in writing from each candidate declaring his or her willingness to accept office if elected, and shall have been submitted to Headquarters at least forty-five (45) days in advance of the official election date. Petitions so submitted shall be certified to the Secretary and to the Elections Committee who shall, in turn, cause the names of such candidates to be placed upon the official ballot.

Section 6. Ballots. Upon certification by the Nominating Committee of an official slate of candidates for national or District offices, and for the Board of Directors, the Elections Committee shall cause to be prepared and distributed to the membership by mail official ballot forms upon which shall appear the names of all candidates, the offices for which they have been nominated, and full instructions for use and return of the ballots. Candidates nominated by petition shall be so indicated.

Section 7. Voting. All members in good standing of this Society shall have the right to vote for all candidates for national elective office, but only those members in good standing of this Society resident in a given geographical section or district, as such geographical sections or districts are described in these By-Laws, shall have the right to vote for representatives of that section or district.

Section 8. Uncontested Offices. In cases of uncontested offices, the Secretary of this Society shall cast the ballot of the entire Society for such nominees and they shall be declared elected.

Section 9. Tally and Announcement of Results. The Elections Committee shall appoint four (4) members, none a candidate for office or holding national or District office, as official tellers to assist in counting the votes and recording the tally. As soon thereafter as practicable, the Elections Committee shall certify to the Board of Directors the results of all elections. These results shall be published in the official journal.

Section 10. Installation. Officers and officials of this Society shall assume the duties of office at the first annual meeting of the Board of Directors subsequent to their election.

Article VIII

NATIONAL COUNCIL

Section 1. General. Representative government of this Society shall be established through the medium of a National Council, which shall have the powers of recommending policies, procedures, and practices for this Society, and of proposing and ratifying amendments to this Constitution and these By-Laws.

Section 2. Composition. The National Council shall be composed of the following:

a. The National Officers.
b. The Divisional Chairmen.
c. The District Representatives.
d. The Chairmen of Standing Committees.
e. The Past President.
f. The Honorary Representatives, when visiting the United States.

Section 3. Meetings. The National Council shall hold at least one (1) meeting annually, and otherwise shall meet at the call of the President. The President shall call special meetings of the National Council upon the request of one-third (1/3) of the members thereof.

Section 4. Notices of Meetings. Notices of regular or special meetings of the National Council shall be served upon all members thereof at least two (2) weeks in advance.

Section 5. Transaction of Business. Any business presented by officers, officials, or members of this Society may be transacted at any meeting of the National Council. The National Council may transact business by mail.

Section 6. Quorum. Presence of one-fourth (¼) of the membership thereof shall constitute a quorum for any meeting of the National Council. Any member of the National Council unable to attend a meeting may vote by mail, such vote having full force and effect.

Section 7. Reports of Meetings. Reports of meetings of the National Council shall be published, as soon as practicable, in the official journal.

Section 8. Minutes. Minutes of meetings of the National Council shall be kept in an official, bound minutes book and shall be subscribed by the presiding officer and by the secretary of the meeting.

Article IX

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Section 1. General. Management of this Society and administration of its affairs shall be vested in a Board of Directors, which shall function as a working cabinet for the President, shall establish the headquarters of this Society, shall have the power to suspend or expel members and to recall officers of this Society, and shall exercise all other managerial powers except those herein prescribed for the National Council.

Section 2. Composition. The Board shall be composed of the following:

a. The National Officers.
b. The Chairmen of the Divisions.
c. The Chairmen of Standing Committees.
d. The retiring President who shall serve for the term of his immediate successor.
e. Four (4) members of this Society, one elected from each of the following four (4) regions, the first to represent the geographical eastern section of the United States comprising the official Eastern Time Zone, the second to represent the geographical mid-western section of the United States comprising the official Central Time Zone, the third to represent the western section of the United States comprising the combined official Mountain and Pacific Times Zones, and the fourth to represent all Provinces of Canada.

Section 3. Meetings. The Board shall hold at least six (6) meetings each year, not more than three (3) months elapsing between meetings.

The Annual Meeting of the Board shall be held in the final quarter of each year and as shall be designated in the call for the meeting. Otherwise the Board shall meet at the call of, and at times and places designated by, the President. All meetings of the Board shall constitute closed sessions, but shall be open to members of the National Council upon application, and to others by invitation.

Section 4. Transaction of Business. Any business related to the affairs of this Society may be transacted at any meeting of the Board. In addition, the Board may transact emergency business by mail, telegraph or telephone.

Section 5. Quorum. Presence of five (5) members thereof shall constitute a quorum for any meeting of the Board.

Section 6. Reports of Meetings. Reports of meetings of the Board promptly shall be made to the National Council, and shall be published, as soon as practicable, in the official journal.

Section 7. Minutes. Minutes of the meetings of the Board shall be kept in an official, bound minutes book and shall be subscribed by the presiding officer and by the secretary of the meeting.

Section 8. Employees. The Board may create positions of employment necessary properly to conduct this Society's business; employ, or authorize the employment of, qualified personnel; dismiss, or order the dismissal of, any employee; and prescribe terms of employment and remuneration. No employee shall be required to be, or to become, a member of this Society. No employee shall be eligible for elective office, or for appointive office other than those open only to employees. Employees may hold membership on committee of this Society only with the approval of the President.

Section 9. Professional Services. The Board may engage professional services and exercise the right to select, remunerate, and otherwise control such services.

Article X
COMMITTEES

Section 1. General. Standing and Special Committees respectively to promote specified continuing and temporary activities of this Society shall be created by resolution of and be responsible to the Board of Directors. The activities, objectives, and scope of authority of such committees shall be specified by the Board.

Section 2. Personnel. Chairmen of all Standing Committees, except as otherwise provided herein or committees having special organizational or legal relationships, shall be appointed annually by the President with the approval of the Board. Chairmen of Special Committees shall be appointed and discharged by the President. Unless otherwise directed by the President, chairmen shall select the members of their respective committees.

Section 3. Organization. Standing Committees supervising activities of such a nature as to necessitate continuous operation and permanence of personnel, or involving legal relationships with or of this Society, may establish special organizational and operating procedure with the approval of the Board.

Section 4. Reports. Standing Committees shall make written reports of activities annually, or otherwise as required, to the Board. Special Committees shall make written reports of activities as required by the President. Reports of all committees shall be published at least once annually in the official journal.

Article XI
DIVISIONS

Section 1. General. When in its opinion such action advances the objects of this Society and serves the interests of the membership, or upon petition of not less than one hundred (100) members resident in at least three (3) Districts, the Board of Directors may create, establish, combine, reorganize, or discontinue national Divisions of this Society for specialized activities in various fields of photography.

Section 2. Membership and Fees. Members of Divisions shall be members of this Society. Membership in Divisions shall be voluntary. Divisions may impose membership fees, which shall be additional to the membership of this Society.

Section 3. Organization. Each national Division shall be governed by a Divisional Chairman, Divisional Vice Chairman, Divisional Secretary-Treasurer, and a Divisional Executive Committee of not more than twenty-five (25) members. Divisional officers shall be nominated and elected by the membership of the Division, under procedure established by the Board, for one (1) term of two (2) years. The Divisional Executive Committee shall be composed of the Divisional Chairman; the Divisional Vice Chairman; the Divisional Secretary-Treasurer; two (2) representatives of each Section of the Division, appointed by each Section in alternate years for one (1) term of two (2) years; and such other members, to the limit herein established, as may be appointed by the Divisional Chairman. At the time a new Division is established, the Divisional officers and Executive Committee shall be appointed by the President, with the approval of the Board, to serve until the subsequent Divisional election.

Section 4. Operation. Under rules and regulations approved by the Board, each Division shall operate to promote the interests of its membership in its specified field of photographic activity.

Section 5. Reports and Recommendations. Once each year, or otherwise as required, each Divisional Chairman shall make to the Board written reports and recommendations for the activities and operations of the Division and its Sections represented. Reports of Divisions shall be published in the official journal.

Section 6. Funds. Funds of each Division shall be deposited with the Treasurer of this Society, and shall be administered by the Divisional Executive Committee in accordance with policy prescribed by the Board.

Section 7. Sections. Under rules and regulations prescribed by the Divisional Executive Committee, and with the approval of the Board, any national Division may authorize the creation of local Sections, to facilitate local participation in the activities of the Division and of this Society. Sections may elect officers, hold meetings, and engage in activities consonant with the policies of the Division and of this Society. Sections shall make reports of activities as required by the Divisional Executive Committee. Sections shall be represented in the National Council and the Board by the Chairman of the Division with which they are affiliated.

Section 8. Scope of Operations. No Division or Section shall represent this Society as a whole for any purpose without the approval of the Board.

Section 9. Reversion of Funds. Upon discontinuance of any national Division, the funds and property thereof shall revert to this Society.

Article XII
DISTRICTS

Section 1. General. For purposes of promoting the general welfare of this Society through encouragement of member participation in its activities, and of assuring equable membership representation in its government, the membership shall be divided into Districts which shall be as follows: Each State or Territory of the United States and each Province of Canada shall constitute a District.

Section 2. Representation. Each District shall be represented on the National Council by one (1) District Representative for each multiple of two hundred (200), or fraction thereof over one-half, members of this Society resident in that District on the first day of the calendar year in which the election is held. No District shall have less than one (1) District Representative. Should the membership of a District fail to elect any or all District Representatives, they shall be appointed by the President with the approval of the Board of Directors. The Board shall have the right to alter the proportion between members and District Representatives.

Article XIII
CHAPTERS

Section 1. General. Under rules and regulations and in territories prescribed by the Board of Directors, and for the purpose of furthering locally the objects, activities, and membership of this Society, any twenty-five (25) members resident in any District, community, or metropolitan area may petition the Board for a charter as a Chapter of this Society. The Board may grant, modify, or reject such petition, and may, for adequate and stated reasons, void the charter of any Chapter. No Chapter shall have exclusive territorial rights.

Section 2. Operation. Chapters shall elect their own officers, finance their own activities, and develop their own programs, which shall be consonant with the objects, policies, and procedure of this Society. Members of Chapters shall be members of this Society. Chapter membership shall be voluntary. Chapter fees shall be additional to the membership dues of this Society. No Chapter shall purport to represent other than its own members, nor to represent this Society as a whole without the approval of the Board. No Chapter shall have any authority to act as an agent of this Society for the purpose of incurring any financial obligation which may be binding upon this Society and each Chapter shall agree to hold the Society harmless from any and all such obligations incurred by it which might be binding upon the Society.

Section 3. Reports. Annually, or otherwise as required, the senior officer of each Chapter shall make a written report of Chapter activities and membership roll to the Board.

Article XIV
HONORARY REPRESENTATIVES

Section 1. General. For purposes of promoting international understanding and friendly relationships with organizations having consonant aims, activities, and interests, this Society may be represented in countries outside the United States by Honorary Representatives.

Section 3. Privileges. Honorary Representatives shall enjoy the status of officials of this Society and, when visiting the United States, of members of its National Council.

Article XV
RECALL, SUSPENSION, AND EXPULSION

Section 1. General. Final authority for the suspension and expulsion of members of this Society and for the recall of officers or officials shall rest with the Board of Directors.

Section 2. Petition. Any ten (10) or more members of this Society may petition the Board for the recall of any officer of this Society, Divisions, Sections, Districts, Chapters, or other units, for the recall of any official, or for the suspension or expulsion of any member. Such petition shall be filed in writing, clearly state the grounds upon which action is sought, and be subscribed with the signatures of all petitioners.

Section 3. Investigation. Upon receipt of proper petition for recall, suspension, or expulsion the Board shall appoint a committee to investigate the charges and to report within three (3) months.

Section 4. Decision and Announcement. Upon receiving the report of the investigating committee and after giving the impeached officer, official, or member at least one (1) month in which to make defense, the Board shall reach a decision by three-fourths (¾) vote of the full Board. The decision of the Board shall be final. Petitioners and accused promptly shall be notified of the decision by the President.

Section 5. Reinstatement. The Board shall have the right, upon reconsidering evidence or upon receipt of additional information, to reinstate any member suspended or expelled or any officer or official removed from office. A three-fourths (¾) vote of the full Board shall be necessary to such reinstatement.

Article XVI
PUBLICATIONS

Section 1. Journal. This Society shall publish an official journal, which shall be distributed to all members, and shall be available to other individuals and organizations under conditions prescribed by the Board of Directors.

Section 2. Authorization. The Board shall authorize the issuance of all official publications of this Society, which so shall be designated, and shall establish regulatory procedure and policy therefor.

Section 3. Restrictions. Unless authorized by the Board, no Division, District, Section, Chapter, Committee, officer, member, or group of members, shall prepare, edit, or issue any publication purporting to represent this Society as a whole, or to reflect the opinions thereof.

Section 4. Responsibility. Publications of this Society, or of any unit thereof, shall be identified as to source and authority. Each official publication shall be identified by the words: "Official Publication."

Article XVII
FUNDS AND ASSETS

Section 1. Cash. All funds of this Society shall be deposited in banks which are members of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation in the name of this Society, and subject to checks signed by either the President or the Treasurer, both of whom shall be bonded, with any other of the elected officers or the Executive Secretary or Office Manager as co-signer under the rules and regulations prescribed by the Board of Directors.

Section 2. Assets. All assets of this Society shall be subject to control by the Board.

Section 3. Audit. The Board shall provide for an annual audit of the books of this Society to be made within sixty (60) days after the close of the fiscal year. The report thereof, signed by the auditors, shall be published in the official journal.

Section 4. Reserve Fund. The Board may provide for the creation, alteration, or discontinuance, and otherwise shall exercise control over, reserve, endowment, or other allocated funds, and may allocate assets or income to such funds.

Section 5. Budget. A budget to guide the operations of this Society shall be prepared each year by the Finance Committee, and shall be submitted, in a form and at a time as required, to the Board.

Section 6. Fiscal Year. This Society's fiscal year shall be established by the Board.

Section 7. Dissolution. Dissolution of this Society, if necessary, shall be carried out in accordance with the provisions of the laws of the state in which this Society is incorporated.

Article XVIII
CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS

Section 1. General. This Constitution and these By-Laws shall constitute the basic rules and regulations of this Society.

Section 2. Amendment by Board of Directors. This Constitution and these By-Laws may be amended by a majority vote of the Board of Directors, but only after notification to the entire membership and ratification by a majority of the votes cast within sixty (60) days by the members of the National Council.

Section 3. Amendment by National Council. The National Council may at any time propose any amendment to this Constitution and these By-Laws and may call upon the Board of Directors for immediate action thereon.

Section 4. Amendment by Members. Any member in good standing of this Society may, at any time, submit in writing to the National Council any proposed amendment to this Constitution and these By-Laws. If the decision of the Council be unfavorable, the proposed amendment may be submitted in writing to the Board of Directors. If the decision of the Board be unfavorable, the proposed amendment shall, upon petition to the Board by not less than one hundred (100) members resident in at least three (3) Districts, be submitted to mail vote of the membership. A majority vote of the membership shall be necessary to adoption.

Section 5. Reintroduction. No provisions of this Constitution and these By-Laws shall be construed as prohibiting the reintroduction of any proposed amendments by stated procedures.

Section 6. Publication. This Constitution and these By-Laws, with current amendments so identified, shall be published annually in an official publication of this Society.

Article XIX
HONORS

Section 1. General. For purposes of assuring proper recognition of outstanding talents in and contributions to all fields of photography, this Society may, by procedure herein provided, create, establish, perpetuate, and confer Honors.

Section 2. Honors. The Honors of this Society shall be: (a) Associateship; (b) Fellowship; (c) Honorary Membership; and (d) Honorary Fellowship. Such Honors, unless revoked, shall be permanent. Recipients of Honors may append to their names these indications of their status: Associates, APSA; Fellows, FPSA; Honorary Members, Hon. PSA; and Honorary Fellows, Hon. FPSA. Honors heretofore conferred by the Associated Camera Clubs of America, by this Society, or by the Honors Committees of this Society, shall be retained by the recipients.

Section 3. Honors Committee. Policies, practices, rules, and regulations governing the establishing and awarding of Honors shall be prepared, directed, and effectuated by the Honors Committee. The Honors Committee shall be broadly representative of the interests and activities of this Society, and shall consist of four (4) members who are either Fellows, Honorary Members, or Honorary Fellows of this Society and four (4) other members of this Society. Members of the Honors Committee shall be appointed by the President, with the approval of the Board of Directors, for one term of four years on such basis that the terms of one (1) Fellow, Honorary Member or Honorary Fellow and one (1) other member shall expire each year. The Honors Committee shall elect its own chairman to serve one (1) term of two (2) years. Appointments to fill unexpired terms shall be made by the President.

Section 4. Procedure. Procedure in establishing, directing, and awarding Honors shall permit the Honors Committee to function without interference, except that:

(a) Policies, practices, rules, and regulations of the Honors Committee shall be reviewed annually by the Board.

(b) Upon recommendation by the Honors Committee, the Board by a three-fourths (¾) vote shall confer Honorary Memberships and by a full vote Honorary Fellowships.

(c) Honors, except Honorary Memberships and Honorary Fellowships, shall be conferred only upon members of this Society.

(d) Policies and practices of the Honors Committee shall not operate to prevent any member of this Society from nominating for Honors any other member, in accordance with prescribed rules and regulations, nor to prohibit personal applications for Associateships and Fellowships.

(e) The roll of Honorary Fellows shall not exceed a total of twenty-five (25) at any one time.

Section 5. Reports and Announcements. The Honors Committee shall submit a written report of its activities to the Board at least once each year. Official announcement of Honors conferred shall be published as soon as practicable in the official journal. In awarding Fellowships, Honorary Memberships, and Honorary Fellowships, official announcement shall cite the accomplishments of the recipients upon which the awards are based.

camera with a hundred eyes

Each Leica lens, faultlessly constructed, fits any Leica camera. Each has its own focusing mount and is fully color corrected. From the wide-angle 28 mm Hektor f/6.3 to the 400 mm Telyt f/5 telephoto, all are designed to give maximum sharpness without distortion over the entire image area.

All current Leica lenses are factory coated to reduce internal reflections, lens flare and image haze.

The chart shown describes briefly some uses of Leica's precision lenses—totaling, through all stops, over a hundred "eyes." For fuller details on how to get the most out of your Leica, with lenses that best meet your needs, be sure to see your local Leica dealer.
